The Man who Climbed the Pecan Trees Horton Foote, 1989

The History of Southern Drama Charles S. Watson, 2021-12-14 Mention southern drama at a cocktail party or in an American literature survey and you may hear cries for Stella or laments for gentleman callers Yet southern drama depends on much more than a menagerie of highly strung spinsters and steel magnolias Charles Watson explores this field from its eighteenth and nineteenth century roots through the southern Literary Renaissance and Tennessee Williams's triumphs to the plays of Horton Foote winner of the 1994 Pulitzer Prize. Such well known modern figures as Lillian Hellman and DuBose Heyward earn fresh looks as does Tennessee Williams's changing depiction of the South from sensitive analysis to outraged indictment in response to the Civil Rights Movement. Watson links the work of the early Charleston dramatists and of Espy Williams first modern dramatist of the South to later twentieth century drama. Strong heroines in plays of the Confederacy foreshadow the spunk of Tennessee Williams's Amanda Wingfield. Claiming that Beth Henley matches the satirical brilliance of Eudora Welty and Flannery O'Connor, Watson connects her zany humor to 1840s New Orleans farces. With this work, Watson has at last answered the call for a single volume comprehensive history of the South's dramatic literature. With fascinating detail and seasoned perception, he reveals the rich heritage of southern drama.

Beginnings
Horton Foote, 2002-04-25 Since 1939 Horton Foote, the Chekhov of the small town, has chronicled with compassion and acuity the experience of American life, both intimate and universal. His adaptation of Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird and his original screenplay Tender Mercies earned him Academy Awards. He has won a Pulitzer Prize, the Gold Medal for Drama from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the PEN/Laura Pels Foundation Award for Drama, and the President's National Medal of Arts. Beginnings is the story of Foote's discovery of his own vocation. He didn't always want to write. When he left Wharton, Texas, at the age of sixteen to study at the Pasadena Playhouse, Foote aspired to be an actor. He remembers the terror and excitement of leaving home during the Depression, his early exposure to the influences of German theater and the speech lessons he took to cure him of his Southern drawl. He eventually arrives in New York to search for acting jobs and to study with some of the great Russian and American teachers of the 1930s. But after mixed results on the stage, he finally recognizes his true passion: writing. From Martha Graham to Tennessee Williams, from Agnes de Mille to Lillian Gish, Horton collaborates with great artists in both dance and theater. The world he describes, of fierce commitment and passion regardless of financial rewards, is both captivating and inspiring. Through it all, Horton maintains his genuine Southern charm, and he often travels home to Wharton, the town that nurtured him as a storyteller and has inspired his writing for the past sixty years. From one of the most moving and distinctive voices of our time, Beginnings is a rare personal look at a fascinating era in American life and at the making of a writer.

Small-Screen Souths
Lisa Hinrichsen, Gina Caison, Stephanie Rountree, 2017-11-16 As the first collection dedicated to the relationship between television and the U.S. South, Small-Screen Souths addresses the growing interest in how mass culture represents the region and influences popular perceptions of it. In sixteen essays divided into three thematic sections, scholars of southern culture analyze representations of the South in a variety of television shows spanning the history of the medium, from classic network programs such as The Andy Griffith Show and Designing Women to some of today's popular franchises like Duck Dynasty and The Walking Dead. The first section, Politics and Identity in the Televisual South, focuses on how television constructs understandings of race, gender, sexuality, and class often adapting to changing configurations of community and identity The next section Caricatures Commodities and Catharsis in the Rural South examines the tension between depictions of southern rural communities and assumptions about abject whiteness particularly conceptions of poverty and profitized culture The concluding section Dis Locating the South considers the influence of postcolonialism globalization and cosmopolitanism in understanding television featuring the region Throughout the essays investigate the profuse often contradictory ways that the U S South has been represented on television seeking to expand and pluralize myopic perspectives of the region By analyzing depictions of the South from the classical network era to the contemporary post broadcast age Small Screen Souths offers a broad historical scope and a multiplicity of theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives on what it means to see the South from the television screen
