Nostalgia, Gender, and Nationalism Jean Pickering,Suzanne Kehde,1996 Most Americans think of Betsy Ross as she was depicted in Charles Weisberger's popular painting The Birth of Our Nation's Flag a motherly figure sewing at the hearth. In fact, as Jo Ann Menezes's analysis in Nostalgia, Gender, and Nationalism points out, Ross was a widowed businesswoman who ran an upholstery shop out of her house. In Weisberger's painting, all signs of economic industry are erased, and Ross's house is transformed into a home rather than the site of cottage industry. Ross is constructed as the perfect heroic mother worthy of sacred creation; thus, our flag was born. Ross's transformation into an icon neatly illustrates the conjunction of soaring nationalism and the establishment of woman as a fixed domestic presence and serves as an excellent example of the master narratives revealed in Nostalgia, Gender, and Nationalism. The essays in this provocative anthology explore the connections between nation and gender and the ways in which nostalgia functions to bind these two presumably unrelated constructions together. Collectively, they suggest that women pay a special fee on behalf of the nation even though it is traditionally represented as an honorarium given to them and that, in fact, the nation-state takes as a foundational principle the subordination of women.

The Mind of the Novel Bruce F. Kavin, 2006. From Moby Dick to The Unnamable, from A Tale of a Tub to The Book of Questions, Bruce Kavin explores the nature of self-conscious fiction and compares its structure to that of human consciousness. Focusing on texts that confront their own limits by trying to name the unnamable, the ineffable self, Kavin draws on methods from literary criticism to systems theory to explain a variety of first-person works that dance around the ungraspable subject.

Public Library Catalog, 1972. Stories Doris Lessing, 2010-02-10. This major collection contains all of Doris Lessing's short fiction other than the stories set in Africa from the beginning of her career until now. Set in London, Paris, the south of France, the English countryside, these thirty-five stories reflect the themes that have always characterized Lessing's work: the bedrock realities of marriage and other relationships between men and women, the crisis of the individual whose very psyche is threatened by a society unattuned to its own most dangerous qualities, the fate of women.

Making Noise, Making News Mary Chapman, 2014. For most people, the U.S. suffrage campaign is encapsulated by images of iconic nineteenth-century orators like the tightly coiffed Susan B. Anthony or the wimpled Elizabeth Cady Stanton. However, as Mary Chapman shows, the campaign to secure the vote for U.S. women was also a modern and print-cultural phenomenon waged with humor, creativity, and style. Making Noise, Making News also understands modern suffragist print culture as a demonstrable link between the Progressive Era's political campaign for a voice in the public sphere and Modernism's aesthetic efforts to re-imagine literary voice. Chapman charts a relationship between modern suffragist print-cultural noise and what literary modernists understood by making it new, asserting that the experimental tactics of U.S. suffrage print culture contributed to and even anticipated the formal innovations of U.S. literary modernism. Drawing on little-known archives and featuring over twenty illustrations, Making Noise, Making News provides startling documentation of Marianne Moore's closeted career as a suffrage propagandist, the persuasive effects of Alice Duer Miller's popular poetry column, Asian American author Sui Sin Far's challenge to the racism and classism of modern suffragism, and Gertrude Stein's midcentury acknowledgement of intersections between suffrage discourse and literary modernism
