Westbrook, 2020-08-27 The problem of the freedom or the bondage of the will was brought to this country by the Puritans and it has been one of the unanswerable questions ever since Whereas many other books have been written on Puritanism and on naturalism in their philosophic and theological manifestations this book traces these ideas through our national literature Chapter 1 begins with a brief account of St Augustine's views concerning the will continues with a full discussion of John Calvin's modifications of Augustine's views and ends with a consideration of Puritan concepts of the will as found in the writings of Michael Wigglesworth and Jonathan Edwards The second chapter looks at the subject of the predestinated will in the fiction of Nathaniel Hawthorne Herman Melville and Mary Wilkins Freeman and in the poetry of Emily Dickinson In the succeeding chapter attention is turned to nineteenth century authors actively hostile to the Calvinistic concept of predestination Charles Brockden Brown Harriet Beecher Stowe Oliver Wendell Holmes and Mark Twain The next two chapters then trace the rise of naturalistic determinism and compare and contrast it with the Calvinistic doctrines of predestination and election Focus is later directed on the blossoming of literary naturalism in America in the works of Stephen Crane Frank Norris Jack London and Theodore Dreiser The combining of naturalism with vestigial Calvinism in the novels of Ellen Glasgow and William Faulkner is the next subject of extended discussion In the concluding two chapters attention is turned to libertarian philosophies opposed to predestination and naturalistic determinism including deism transcendentalism pragmatism and humanism The influence of the great Russian novelists is presented and William Dean Howells Henry James Edith Wharton and Willa Cather are discussed as humanistic writers Finally the continuing tension between humanism and scientific determinism is noted in the writings of Ernest Hemingway The themes of the book are illustrated with many examples from the prose and verse of American writers      Booklist Books, a Selection American Library Association, 1922      The Undergraduate's Companion to American Writers and Their Web Sites Larry G. Hinman, 2000-12-15 An outstanding research guide for undergraduate students of American literature this best selling book is essential when it comes to researching American authors Bracken and Hinman identify and describe the best and most current sources both in print and online for nearly 300 American writers whose works are included in the most frequently used literary anthologies Students will know exactly what information is available and where to find it Edwin Arlington Robinson's Letters to Edith Brower Edwin Arlington Robinson, Edith Brower, 1968 The letters begin when the 27 year old poet writes gratefully to the stranger who has expressed appreciation of his first book of poems Soon he was carrying on an intense correspondence with the woman he described as infernally bright and not at all ugly and too old to give me a chance to bother myself with any sentimental uneasiness The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints Library of Congress, American Library Association. Committee on Resources of American Libraries.
