Unifying Geography David T. Herbert, John A.

Matthews, 2004-08-05 It can be argued that the differences in content and approach between physical and human geography and also within its sub disciplines are often overemphasised The result is that geography is often seen as a diverse and dynamic subject but also as a disorganised and fragmenting one without a focus Unifying Geography focuses on the plural and competing versions of unity that characterise the discipline which give it cohesion and differentiate it from related fields of knowledge Each of the chapters is co authored by both a leading physical and a human geographer Themes identified include those of the traditional core as well as new and developing topics that are based on subject matter concepts methodology theory techniques and applications Through its identification of unifying themes the book will provide students with a meaningful framework through which to understand the nature of the geographical discipline Unifying Geography will give the discipline renewed strength and direction thus improving its status both within and outside geography

Reading Machines in the Modernist Transatlantic White Eric White, 2020-06-18 A revisionist account of technology's role in the aesthetics spaces and politics of transatlantic avant gardes Explores a range of key avant garde formations in the modernist transatlantic period from the Italian futurists and English Vorticists to the Dada surrealist and post Harlem Renaissance African American experimentalists Explores writers and artists inventions as well as their texts and involves them directly in the messy transductions of technology in culture. Draws on previously unknown photos, manuscripts and other evidence that reveals the untold story of Bob and Rose Brown's reading machine, a cross-disciplinary meta-formational and transnational project that proposed to transform the everyday act of reading. Reading Machines in the Modernist Transatlantic provides a new account of aesthetic and technological innovation from the Machine Age to the Information Age. Drawing on a wealth of archival discoveries, it argues that modernist avant-gardes used technology not only as a means of analysing culture but as a way of feeding back into it. As well as uncovering a new invention by Mina Loy, the untold story of Bob Brown's reading machine and the radical technicities of African American experimentalists including Gwendolyn Bennett and Ralph Ellison, the book places avant-gardes at the centre of innovation across a variety of fields. From dazzle camouflage to microfilm and from rail networks to broadcast systems, White explores how vanguardists harnessed socio-technics to provoke social change.
