

DETERMINISM (SOCIOLOGY)

In sociology, determinism proposes that everything we do, in terms of our social conduct, is pre-determined by biological factors, like our DNA.

DEFINITION

Determinists, whether in the field of philosophy, sociology, or psychology have a belief that our actions, and in turn, reactions, are in some way predetermined by either biology, our environment, or in many cases both. Moreover, they assert that it is highly unlikely that a person would be able to alter their inevitable path or choices due to their biological or environmental conditions.

EXAMPLES

Determinism and Social Deviance: Assuming that a child who grows up in a violent household is predestined to commit violent crime.

Technological Determinism: The idea that advances in technology will fundamentally determine how society progresses and changes.
