Movement Theory of Control Norbert Hornstein, Maria Polinsky, 2010 Natural languages offer many examples of displacement i e constructions in which a non local expression is critical for some grammatical end Two central examples include phenomena such as raising and passive on the one hand and control on the other Though each phenomenon is an example of displacement they have been theoretically distinguished Movement rules have generated the former and formally very different construal rules the latter The Movement Theory of Control challenges this differentiation and argues that the operations that generate the two constructions are the same the differences arising from the positions through which the displaced elements are moved In the context of the Minimalist Program reducing the class of basic operations is methodologically prized This volume is a collection of original papers that argue for this approach to control on theoretical and empirical grounds as well The papers also develop and constrain the movement theory to account for novel phenomena from a variety of languages

The Gospel of Buddha Paul Carus, 1895 The best evidence that this book characterizes the spirit of Buddhism correctly can be found in the welcome it has received throughout the entire Buddhist world It has even been officially introduced in Buddhist schools and temples of Japan and Ceylon The eminent feature of the work is its grasp of the difficult subject and the clear enunciation of the doctrine of the most puzzling problem of man as taught in Buddhism So far as we have examined the question of man ourselves from the works of the Southern canon the view taken by Dr Paul Carus is accurate and we venture to think that it is not opposed to the doctrine of Northern Buddhism
