Looking Forward Bert Kruger Smith, 1983 Abstract Suggestions and guidance related to recognizing the aging process as a positive experience are presented. The American population is getting older, and with that fact comes the realization that certain steps must be taken to ensure care for older people. Discussed are the universality of aging, a subjective view of aging, intergenerational family living, new concepts concerning work and retirement, abuse of the elderly, technological impacts on life styles, demographics, medical and social issues, quality of life for the elderly, and independent living. Legislation to protect the elderly and enactment of adequate social security or a national pension plan will ease some uncertainties associated with aging. The appendix contains a report from the 1981 White House Conference on Aging. References are included. kbc Review of Allied Health Education: 5

Joseph Hamburg, 2015-01-13 Ferment and change best describe the health care scene today. Any semblance of stability and controlled evolution in this important area is over for the foreseeable future. Unanticipated and sudden shifts in priorities have occurred because of society's concern with the excessive costs, limited access, and restrictive modes of delivery of care in this major industry. Volume 5 of this useful and popular series explores in depth a number of these contemporary issues and changes: geriatrics, prospective payment, rural health, health promotion, computerized education, accreditation, and curricular articulation. These original essays will be of interest and importance to all concerned with education in the health professions.
