Maat, the Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt Maulana Karenga, 1994 Maat, the Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt Maulana Karenga, 1994 Maat, the Moral Ideal in Ancient Egypt Karenga (Maulana.), 1994 A Christian and African Ethic of Women's Political Participation Léocadie W. Lushombo, 2022-11-30 This book surveys a broad panorama of Christian and African traditions to discover and assess the components that will illuminate and motivate a Christian and African ethic of women's political participation The author's primary lens for diagnosing the problems faced by women in Africa is Engelbert Mveng's concept of anthropological poverty that results from slavery and colonialism It affects women in unique ways and is exacerbated by the religious and cultural histories of women's oppression The author advocates an interplay between the sacredness of every individual's life a salient principle of Christian ethics and the collective consciousness of solidarity distinctive to African cultures This interplay can in turn foster a more enlightened approach to African masculinity Using a philosophical hermeneutic this in-depth study undertakes a moral imagination through narrative criticism It argues that the existential reality of African women must be addressed as an essential element in the development of Christian socio-political ethic The righteous solidaristic and resistant anger of women can transform patriarchy and inform Catholic social teaching The author draws on The Circle of concerned African women theologians postcolonial theorists inculturation theology African males and Jon Sobrino's liberation theology to present an innovative Christian ethic that will radically affect the lives of African women and inform feminist theology

Introduction to African American Studies Talmadge Anderson, James Benjamin Stewart, 2007 There is an ongoing debate as to whether African American Studies is a discipline or multidisciplinary or interdisciplinary field Some scholars assert that African American Studies use a well defined common approach in examining history politics and the family in the same way as scholars in the disciplines of economics sociology and political science Other scholars consider African American Studies multidisciplinary a field somewhat comparable to the field of education in which scholars employ a variety of disciplinary lenses be they anthropological psychological historical etc to study the African world experience In this model the boundaries between traditional disciplines are accepted and researches in African American Studies simply conduct discipline based an analysis of particular topics Finally another group of scholars insists that African American Studies is interdisciplinary an enterprise that generates distinctive analyses by combining perspectives from d

Race and Democracy in the Americas Georgia A. Persons, 2018-12-07 Race and Democracy in the Americas examines dimensions of the comparative dynamics of race and ethnicity with a directed focus on the Americas most particularly Brazil and the United States Brazil and the United States are two countries in the Americas that have been major hosts for the African diaspora Both countries experienced prolonged enslavement of Africans and both now claim to be beacons of democracy for much of the developing world Both Afro Brazilians and African Americans have fielded major liberation movements against racism and oppression yet both groups continue to experience considerable residual racial discrimination and displacement Brazil and the U S remain racialized societies though both officially purport to be otherwise The chapters of this volume illuminate a common search for understanding how race operates in societies generally and how shapes life opportunities for African Americans and Afro Brazilians both oppressed by this most detrimental social construction The project that fueled this volume represented a rare opportunity for collaboration between Afro Brazilian scholars and their African American counterparts This volume offers a passionate conversation between colleagues who have endured common sociopolitical and cultural struggles but who have only belatedly been able to meet and connect as individuals Both groups share identities as scholars and activists for neither identity alone is sufficient to nourish the longings of their hearts nor of their consciences This volume also represents an all too rare opportunity to give voice and expression to the work of Afro Brazilian scholars Volume 9 of the National Political Science Review also carries a special tribute to Mack Henry Jones a senior black political scientist retiring from Atlanta University and honors Jones s legacy and continues his quest for understanding the nature and intricacies of oppression and possible paths to liberatio

The Iconography of Humiliation in New Kingdom Egypt Mark D. Janzen, 2024-11-26 This volume analyzes the iconography of bound foreigners on New Kingdom monuments and artifacts to better understand Egyptian perspectives on foreigners and their treatment of prisoners of war Depictions of foreign captives in humiliating or torturous poses are ubiquitous in Egyptian iconography and reflect the celebratory nature of royal ideology in this case by degrading enemies Egyptologists have scrutinized these scenes for details regarding various military matters but existing scholarly literature offers few studies focused on enemy captives and the sheer physical brutality of the depictions of their bindings Janzen examines the bound foreigner motif in New Kingdom sources demonstrating that these prisoners of war played vital roles in Egyptian ideology and religion Their depictions in bizarre or torturous poses served to reinforce ideological underpinnings of pharaoh s right to rule perpetually ritualizing their defeat and or punishment through the presence of this iconography on ceremonial objects used primarily by the king and on temple walls and monuments The subjugation of foreigners also constituted an important economic function as incorporating prisoners of war into the Egyptian workforce was crucial for economic prosperity and growth in New Kingdom Egypt The volume also explores cross cultural and anthropological parallels placing Egyptian treatment of foreign prisoners in its ancient context The book provides a fascinating study of the subject suitable for scholars and students of Egyptology and ancient history particularly that of New Kingdom Egypt as well as those working on power warfare and violence in the ancient world more broadly Travel and the Pan African of modernity progress and civilization Tracy Keith Flemming identifies how travel and social mobility led to the generation of an ever more complex and dynamic Atlantic world and of a fluid and adaptive African world community imagination for those figures who were forced to operate within and against a racially framed universe The vexing social position and symbolic figure of the African was central to the dilemmas facing the racialized imagination of African world community figures and the discipline of Africology
