Smoke Ben Schrader, 2016-10-10 Unlike in Europe North America Australia and elsewhere urban history has never been sustained as a distinct field of scholarship in New Zealand This is surprising considering that since the early twentieth century most New Zealanders have lived in towns and cities 86 per cent were urban in 2014 Yet we know surprisingly little about these urban dwellers and the spaces in which they lived The pursuit of city life is one of the most important untold stories of New Zealand The Big Smoke is the first comprehensive history to tell this story presenting a dynamic and highly illustrated account of city life from 1840 to 1920 It explores such questions as what did cities look like and how did they change why were women especially drawn to live in cities in what ways did M ori experience and shape cities how far was the street a living room and stage for city life and why did New Zealand so quickly become a nation of townspeople At a time of national debate over housing and the growth of our cities Ben Schrader's superb new history reveals how our urban origins have shaped the people we are today Available in paperback and ebook formats from booksellers and using the Buy buttons on this page For more information on these purchase options please visit our Sales FAQs page or contact us

Fears and Fantasies Kate Murphy, 2010 Fears and Fantasies Modernity Gender and the Rural Urban Divide explores the ways in which fantasies about returning to or revitalising rural life helped to define Western modernity in the early twentieth century. Scholarship addressing responses to modernity has focused on urban space and fears about the effects of city life; few studies have considered the rural to be as critical as the urban in understanding modernity. This book argues that the rural is just as significant a reference point as the urban in discourses about modernity. Using a rich Australian case study to illuminate broader international themes, it focuses on the role of gender in ideas about the rural-urban divide, showing how the country was held up against the unnatural city as a space in which men were more masculine and women more feminine. Fears and Fantasies is an innovative and important contribution to scholarship in the fields of history and gender studies.

Colonialism and Male Domestic Service across the Asia Pacific Julia Martínez, Claire Lowrie, Frances Steel, Victoria Haskins, 2018-11-29 Examining the role of Asian and indigenous male servants across the Asia Pacific from the late 19th century to the 1930s, this study shows how their ubiquitous presence in these purportedly humble jobs gave them a degree of cultural influence that has been largely overlooked in the literature on labour mobility in the age of empire. With case studies from British Hong Kong, Singapore, Northern Australia, Fiji, and British Columbia, French Indochina, the American Philippines, and the Dutch East Indies, the book delves into the intimate and often conflicted relationships between European and American colonists and their servants. It explores the lives of houseboys, cooks, and gardeners in the colonial home; considers the bell boys and waiters in the grand colonial hotels; and follows the stewards and cabin boys on steamships travelling across the Indian and Pacific Oceans. This broad conception of service allows Colonialism and Male Domestic Service to illuminate trans-colonial or cross-border influences through the mobility of servants and their employers. This path-breaking study is an important book for students and scholars of colonialism, labour history, and the Asia Pacific region.
