Making Policies for Children Cheryl D. Hayes,1982 Making Policies for Children National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on Child Development Research and Public Policy,Panel for the Study of the Policy Formation Process,1982-01-01 Journal of Human Services Abstracts ,1983 Evaluating Family Programs Francine H. Jacobs,2017-10-24 The diverse composition of American families and changing ways of raising our children have become subjects of intense scrutiny by researchers and policymakers in recent years Shifting demographics and work patterns growing numbers of women in the work force teenage pregnancy single parent families and the deinstitutionalization of the elderly disabled and mentally ill all these trends have significantly affected family life Evaluating Family Programs effectively bridges the gap between researchers and practitioners in order to bring practical understandable advice to providers of family programs and to program funders and policymakers Heather B Weiss and Francine H Jacobs have collected in this volume works which move outside the traditional approaches of their disciplines to create new models for delivering and evaluating services This sets a mood of genuine inquiry and excitement about successful aspects of programs while maintaining openness about the limitations of both research and practice By expanding the research model this work is an attempt to understand reciprocal influences of extended family culture community and social institutions It urges those who advocate program accountability to understand that not all types of evaluations are appropriate for all programs and it notes that limitations in current evaluation technologies make it difficult to evaluate outcomes Evaluating Family Programs reminds the reader that in order to develop sound family policy we must look at children and families in context Because policymakers program administrators and informed citizens have come to rely more upon the results of evaluation research we must improve our methods while not losing sight of its limitations It is a thought provoking contribution to the efforts of those who seek to support the American family with compassion understanding and realism Health Services Integration Institute of Medicine (U.S.),1982 Handbook of Family Literacy , Overcoming Unintentional Racism in Counseling and Therapy Charles R. Ridley,2005-03-16 Any counselor or therapist regardless of race background or motive can engage in unintentional acts of racism In so doing they may inadvertently sabotage their own efforts and perpetuate the very problems they seek to overcome Overcoming Unintentional Racism in Counseling and Therapy Second Edition examines the dynamics and effects of racism in counseling with an emphasis on the insidiousness of unintentional racism Workable solutions and practical alternatives are proposed with the goal of eliminating unintentional racism Numerous supporting clinical examples are included in order to help counselors gain new insights into their operational practices and to modify any behaviors that may interfere with a helpful intervention The Second Edition also provides a new section on the policies and practices of agencies and other institutions in the mental health system unintentionally resulting in service disparities Macro system and micro system interventions are proposed to overcome these disparities

Missouri Revisiting Paulo Freire's Pedagogy of the Oppressed Michel Vandebroek, 2020-09-28 This reflection on Paulo Freire's seminal volume Pedagogy of the Oppressed examines the lessons learnt from Freire and their place in contemporary pedagogical theory and practice. Freire's work has inspired ground-breaking research which Vandebroek has collated, demonstrating the ongoing influence on early childhood educators. Vandebroek brings together an international cohort of early childhood experts to present cross-cultural perspectives on the impact of Freire's research on education around the globe. This book covers discussions on the background to and impact of Freire's work, alternative approaches to supporting child development, pedagogical approaches in Portugal, South Africa, Japan, New Zealand, and the United States. Vandebroek concludes with a vision for theorising and implementing emancipatory practice in early childhood education in contexts of neoliberalism. An insightful resource for academics and students in the field of Early Childhood Education and Care. Revisiting Paulo Freire's Pedagogy of the Oppressed is a benchmark of the progress made in the field over the last half a century.

The Child Care Catalog Randy Lee Comfort, Constance D. Williams, 1985 Beyond Rhetoric DIANE Publishing Company, 1995-10 Presents the Commission's findings, conclusions, and recommendations. Part 2 presents the Commission's agenda for the 1990s, organized into chapters focused on the broad policy areas that are most vital to children and families. Part 3 summarizes the Commission's vision for a better society and their recommendations for building the necessary commitment to achieve it. Photos and graphs.

From Neurons to Neighborhoods Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Institute of Medicine, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Integrating the Science of Early Childhood Development, 2000-11-13 How we raise young children is one of today's most highly personalized and sharply politicized issues, in part because each of us can claim some level of expertise. The debate has intensified as discoveries about our development in the womb and in the first months and years have reached the popular media. How can we use our burgeoning knowledge to assure the well-being of all young children for their own sake as well as for the sake of our nation? Drawing from new findings, this book presents important conclusions about nature versus nurture, the impact of being born into a working family, the effect of politics on programs for children, the costs and benefits of intervention, and other issues. The committee issues a series of challenges to decision makers regarding the quality of child care, issues of racial and ethnic diversity, the integration of children's cognitive and emotional development, and more. Authoritative yet accessible, From Neurons to Neighborhoods presents the evidence about brain wiring and how kids learn to speak, think, and regulate their behavior. It examines the effect of the climate, family, child care, community within which the child grows.
