Making Schools Matter Good Teachers At Work:

Making Schools Matter Satu Repo, 1998 Making Schools Matter is an anthology of articles and interviews about classroom issues of continuing importance in education today. The contributors to this anthology are drawn from across Canada as well as abroad. They offer practical advice on how to develop anti racism and anti sexism programs to interest students in science, make history and social studies relevant, create a curriculum that is dedicated to social justice. Watching these good teachers at work, we too can learn to engage students in their subjects, stretch them as individuals and help them to think as part of a larger community. Teachers who care about the role schools play in creating thoughtful, well rounded individuals in a democratic society will find Making Schools Matter a rich source of ideas. An Our Schools Our Selves book

Making Schools Matter Satu Repo, 1998 Teachers Matter: Connecting Work, Lives And Effectiveness Day, Christopher, Sammons, Pam, Stobart, Gordon, 2007-03-01 Based on a DfES funded study of 300 teachers in 100 primary and secondary schools in England, the authors identify different patterns of influence and effect between groups of teachers which provide powerful evidence of the complexities of teachers' work, lives, identity and commitment in relation to their sense of agency, well being, resilience and pupil attitudes and attainment. This in turn provides a clear message for teachers, teachers' associations, school leaders and policy makers internationally in understanding and supporting the need to build and sustain school and classroom effectiveness. On Teaching that Works Feliks Tans, Agustinus Semion, Basri K., Hilda M. Nalley, and Patrisius Warduna, 2020-01-15 As its name shows, that is On Teaching That Works; this book is about teaching that hopefully can empower our students to be better in their life in and after their formal schooling. To be better is of course not just dependent on teaching; it also depends on learning. That is, students can indeed be better in and beyond schools if they learn harder, smarter, day by day throughout their life span. Learning harder, smarter is ideally the result of among other things, how teachers teach their students. This is why this book covers also some issues related to learning, a process through which learners can move individually and/or collectively from being dependent to being independent, with characters that are universally acceptable. In that sense, although the focus of this book seems to be in and around the teaching and learning of writing in general in English as a foreign language (EFL), in particular it may also be relevant for those who are interested in educational issues in general, like how a teacher can be an inspiring one and not just a good or a superior one. Chapter Four or how our schools should be redesigned in order to make them more effective in empowering our students in and beyond their formal educational processes. Chapter 9 We have to acknowledge that the articles presented in this book have been made public before either in academic journals or in academic seminars. We believe that by transferring those articles into a book form, the ideas we have discussed before can then have broader audience and therefore be more beneficial for its audience worldwide. We believe however that this book is not a perfect one. We are therefore looking forward to having any criticism from our readers to make it better in the future.
