International Handbook of Penology and Criminal Justice Shlomo Giora Shoham, Ori Beck, Martin Kett, 2007-10-08 At the outset of the twenty first century more than 9 million people are held in custody in over 200 countries around the world from the essay Prisons and Jails by Ron King The first comparative study of this increasingly integral social subject International Handbook of Penology and Criminal Justice provides a comprehensive and balanced review Sentencing Guidelines United States. Congress. House. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, 1988 The Federal Sentencing Guidelines United States Sentencing Commission, 1991 Nothing Has to Make Sense Sherene H. Razack, 2022-04-19 How Western nations have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim in the post 9 11 world While much has been written about post 9 11 anti Muslim racism often termed Islamophobia insufficient attention has been given to how anti Muslim racism operates through law and is a vital part of law s protection of whiteness This book fills this gap while also providing a unique new global perspective on white supremacy Sherene H Razack a leading critical race and feminist scholar takes an innovative approach by situating law within media discourses and historical and contemporary realities We may think of law as logical but argues Razack its logic breaks down when the subject is Muslim Tracing how white subjects and majority white nations in the post 9 11 era have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim Razack examines four sites of anti Muslim racism efforts by American evangelical Christians to ban Islam in the school curriculum Canadian and European bans on Muslim women s clothing racial science and the sentencing of Muslims as terrorists and American national memory of the torture of Muslims during wars and occupations Arguing that nothing has to make sense when the subject is Muslim she maintains that these legal and cultural sites reveal the dread phobia hysteria and desire that mark the encounter between Muslims and the West Through the prism of racism Nothing Has to Make Sense argues that the figure of the Muslim reveals a world divided between the deserving and the disposable where people of European origin are the former and all others are confined in various ways to regimes of disposability Emerging from critical race theory and bridging with Islamophobia critical religious studies it demonstrates that anti Muslim racism is a revelatory window into the operation of white supremacy as a global force

The Virtual Prison Julian V. Roberts,2004-11-18

The last twenty five years have seen dramatic rises in the prison populations of most industrialised nations Unable to keep up with increased numbers of convicted offenders governments and criminal justice systems have been seeking new ways to control and punish offenders One sanction adopted in Canada and some parts of Europe and the US is community custody which attempts to recreate the punitive nature of prison but without incarceration This book analyses the effectiveness of this approach and explores its implications for offenders and society as a whole It demonstrates that if properly conceived and administered community custody can reduce the number of prison admissions and at the same time promote multiple goals of sentencing So that offenders given community custody orders are punished yet also given the opportunity to change their lives in ways that would be impossible if they were in prison

Making Sense of Sexual Consent Mark Cowling,Paul

Reynolds,2017-03-02 The issue of sexual consent has stimulated much debate in the last decade The contributors to this illuminating volume make sense of sexual consent from various conceptual standpoints socio legal post structural philosophical and feminist The volume comprises a range of studies all based around consent within a specific context such as criminal justice homosexuality sadomasochism prostitution male rape learning disabilities sexual ethics and the age of consent It is the first collection to publish exclusively on issues of sexual consent and both makes sense of sexual consent in contemporary society and guides debate towards better consent standards and decisions in the future Making Sense of Sexual Consent will excite considerable discussion amongst academics professionals and all those who think that freedom to make decisions about our sexual selves is important It will set the agenda for debate on sexual consent into the 21st Century

How Do Judges Decide? Cassia Spohn,2002-01-28 The appropriate amount of punishment for a given crime is an issue that has been debated by scholars philosophers and legal professionals since the beginning of civilizations This book seeks to address this issue in all of its complexity by providing a comprehensive overview of the sentencing process in the United States The book begins by discussing the overall concept of punishment and then proceeds to dissect individual aspects of punishment Topics include the sentencing process responsibility of the judge disparity and discrimination in sentencing and sentencing reform This book is an ideal text for introductory courses on the judicial system criminal law law and society It can be an essential resource to help students understand patterns in the wide discretion and latitude given to judges when determining punishments within the framework of the United States judicial system How Judges Sentence Geraldine Mackenzie,2005 How do judges sentence This question is frequently asked but infrequently explored What factors are taken into account How do judges see their role How do they apply the aims and purposes of sentencing How are factors such as public opinion taken into account How Judges Sentence explores these questions through interviews with Queensland judges The judges explain how they come to their decisions when sentencing how they view judicial discretion and how they exercise it The book carefully examines their comments within the legislative and theoretical contexts of sentencing The analysis yields valuable insights into judicial methodologies perceptions and attitudes towards the sentencing process How Judges Sentence provides a major contribution to debates on sentencing Sentencing in International Criminal Law Silvia D'Ascoli,2011-04-01 This book deals with sentencing in international criminal law focusing on the approach of the UN ad hoc Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia ICTY and Rwanda ICTR In contrast to sentencing in domestic jurisdictions and in spite of its growing importance sentencing law is a part of international criminal law that is still under construction and is unregulated in many aspects International sentencing law and practice is not yet defined by exact norms and principles and as yet there is no body of international principles concerning the determination of sentence notwithstanding the huge volume of sentencing research and the extensive modern debate about sentencing principles Moreover international judges receive very little guidance in sentencing matters this contributes to inconsistencies and may increase the risk that similar cases will be sentenced in different ways One purpose of this book is to investigate and evaluate the process of international sentencing especially as interpreted by the ICTY and the ICTR and to suggest a more comprehensive and coherent system of guiding principles which will foster the development of a law of sentencing for international criminal justice The book discusses the law and jurisprudence of the ad hoc Tribunals and also presents an empirical analysis of influential factors and other data from ICTY and ICTR sentencing practice thus offering quantitative support for the doctrinal analysis This publication is one of the first to be entirely devoted to the process of sentencing in international criminal justice The book will thus be of great interest to practitioners academics and students of the subject Towards effective sentencing Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Home Affairs Committee,2007-06-11 This publication contains oral evidence given in relation to the Committee's inquiry into sentencing policy by Lord Woolf the former Lord Chief Justice of England and Wales It also includes written evidence submitted by a range of organisations including the Home Office HM Chief Inspector of Prisons the Crown Prosecution Service Criminal Bar Association the Howard League for Penal Reform JUSTICE the Parole Board the Police Federation the Prison Governors Association the Prison Reform Trust and the Youth Justice Board for England and Wales Sentencing and Society Cyrus Tata,Neil Hutton,2017-03-02 Combining the latest work of leading sentencing and punishment scholars from twelve different countries this major new international volume answers key questions in the study of sentencing and society It presents not only a rigorous examination of the latest legal and empirical research from around the world but also reveals the workings of sentencing within society and as a social practice Traditionally work in the field of sentencing has been dominated by legal and philosophical approaches Distinctively this volume provides a more sociological approach to sentencing so allowing previously unanswered questions to be addressed and new questions to be opened This extensive collection is drawn from around one third of the papers presented at the First International Conference on Sentencing and Society Almost without exception the chapters have been revised cross referenced and updated The overall themes and findings of the international volume are set out by the opening Introduction and the closing Reflections chapters Research findings on particular penal policy questions are balanced with an analysis of fundamental conceptual issues making this international volume essential reading for sentencing and punishment scholars criminal justice policy makers and graduate students

Sentencing Policy and Social Justice Ralph Henham, 2018-02-22 Sentencing Policy and Social Justice argues that the promotion of social justice should become a key objective of sentencing policy advancing the argument that the legitimacy of sentencing ultimately depends upon the strength of the relationship between social morality and penal ideology It sheds light on how shared moral values can influence sentencing policy at a time when relationships of community appear increasingly fragmented arguing that sentencing will be better placed to make a positive contribution to social justice if it becomes more sensitive to the commonly accepted moral boundaries that underpin adherence to the rule of law The need to reflect public opinion in sentencing has received significant attention more recently with renewed interest in jury sentencing stakeholder sentencing and the involvement of community views when regulating policy The author however advocates a different approach combining a new theoretical focus with practical suggestions for reform and arguing that the contribution sentencing can make to social justice necessitates a fundamental change in the way shared values about the advantages of punishment are reflected in penal ideology and sentencing policy Using examples from international comparative and domestic contexts to advance the moral and ethical case for challenging the existing theories of sentencing the book develops the author's previous theoretical ideas and outlines how these changes could be given practical shape within the context of sentencing in England and Wales It assesses the consequences for penal governance due to increased state regulation of discretionary sentencing power and examines the prospects for achieving the kind of moral transformation regarded as necessary to reverse such a move To illustrate these issues each chapter focuses on a particularly problematic area for contemporary sentencing policy namely the sentencing of women the sentencing of irregular migrants sentencing for offences of serious public disorder and sentencing for financial crime

Research,1983-02-01 The Language of Sexual Crime J. Cotterill,2007-07-31 The Language of Sexual Crime explores the role of language in the construction of identity of both perpetrators and victims of sexual violence the ways in which language is used in the detection of sexually motivated crime and the articulation manipulation of language in police interviews the courtroom and the media Young Killers Kathleen M. Heide,1999 Why is the number of homicides committed by youths rising in the United States An escalating problem in this country Juvenile Homicide has been considered an epidemic by mental health professionals as well as practitioners in the juvenile justice and criminal systems In her book Young Killers Kathleen M Heide blends compelling case studies with an empirical assessment of male adolescent murderers creating a readable and interesting scholarly text This book explores several factors that contribute to the rise of juvenile homicide including home and family environments role models the witnessing of violence access to weapons the availability of drugs and alcohol personality characteristics and the cumulative effect of having little to lose Although this book focuses on male juvenile offenders Heide also addresses the changing percentage of juvenile females arrested for homicide and examines gender issues in juvenile homicide She discusses the reasons girls may be more likely to kill family members than boys are and examines the effects of the women s movement on girls and crime Heide also addresses psychological assessment treatment issues and prevention strategies aimed at reducing the incidence of juvenile homicide Young Killers is written with clarity making it accessible to a wide ranging audience This definitive work on juvenile homicide will benefit both undergraduate and graduate students and professionals in criminal justice criminology sociology social work counseling and clinical psychology Rights of the Child, Mothers and Sentencing Alice Macharia,2021-02-22 This book draws international attention to the autonomy of the child accompanying incarcerated mothers and those they leave behind in the community despite being dependent on the convicted caregiver Adopting a child rights perspective the study explores how courts could go about sentencing mothers of young children for the commission of criminal offences whilst protecting the rights of the child as envisaged under the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child UNCRC Drawing on the author s experience as a sentencer in the Kenyan court and with reference to domestic regional and international law the book argues that children s rights are presently left in abeyance when their mothers are sentenced to imprisonment and that greater efforts should be made to recognize and give effect to the child s existence as an autonomous equal holder of human rights despite being dependent on the convicted caregiver It explores the application of precedence as well as the court s discretion in view of the dependent child and concludes that policy reform in this respect calls for change in attitude and approach on women and children s issues Observing that internationally most women imprisoned with their children fall beneath the custodial threshold set by law the research examines how current sentencing practices could be reformed and suggests harnessing the Power of Mercy Committee the Sentencing Guidelines and progressive practices from developed countries in protecting the child s rights by imposing non custodial sentences for the offending mothers It is concluded that in all jurisdictions strict accountability for the dependent child should be situated with the judiciary and that the same should be pronounced as a mandatory legal requirement The book will be a valuable resource for academic researchers and policy makers working in the area of international children s rights law and criminal law Exploring the Mandatory Life Sentence for Murder Barry Mitchell, Julian V Roberts, 2012-10-19 Murder is often regarded as both the ultimate and a unique crime and whereas courts are normally given discretion in sentencing offenders for murder the sentence is mandatory indeterminate imprisonment Since the crime and the punishment come as a package deal this book looks at both the legal nature of the offence and at the current operation of the mandatory life sentence Not only does the book adopt a critical approach by assessing the strengths and weaknesses of the status quo it also draws upon comparative material from both common and civil law jurisdictions in an attempt to provide a comprehensive exploration of these issues The need for public confidence in the criminal justice system is particularly acute in the way it deals with the most serious homicides In this book the authors report findings from the first systematic exploration of public attitudes to sentencing murder in this or any other common law jurisdiction The picture of public opinion emerging from this recent large scale nationwide qualitative and quantitative survey funded by the Nuffield Foundation is likely to surprise many and will be of interest to all jurisdictions where the mandatory life sentence for murder has been questioned Research Into Criminal Sentencing United States.
