Community Management and Common Property of Coastal Fisheries in Asia and the Pacific Robert S. Pomeroy, 1994-01-01 Making Commons Dynamic Prateep Kumar Nayak, 2021-03-01 With an emphasis on the challenges of sustaining the commons across local to global scales Making Commons Dynamic examines the empirical basis of theorising the concepts of commonisation and decommonisation as a way to understand commons as a process and offers analytical directions for policy and practice that can potentially help maintain commons as commons in the future Focusing on commonisation decommonisation as an analytical framework useful to examine and respond to changes in the commons the chapter contributions explore how natural resources are commonised and decommonised through the influence of multi level internal and external drivers and their implications for commons governance across disparate geographical and temporal contexts It draws from a large number of geographically diverse empirical cases 20 countries in North South and Central America and South and South East Asia They involve a wide range of commons related to fisheries forests grazing wetlands coastal marine rivers and dams aquaculture wildlife tourism groundwater surface freshwater mountains small islands social movements and climate The book is a transdisciplinary endeavour with contributions by scholars from geography history sociology anthropology political studies planning human ecology cultural and applied ecology environmental and development studies environmental science and technology public policy Indigenous tribal studies Latin American and Asian studies and environmental change and governance and authors representing the commons community NGOs and policy Contributors include academics community members NGOs practitioners and policymakers Therefore commonisation decommonisation lessons drawn from these chapters are well suited for contributing to the practice policy and theory of the commons both locally and globally An Economical Analysis of the Effects of Production Risk on the Use and Management of Common-Pool Rangelands, International Water Treaties Shlomi Dinar, 2007-12-13 Systematic and analytical this book written an expert in the field of hydro politics develops a theory to explain solutions to property rights conflicts over shared rivers The Drama of the Commons National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change, 2002-02-15 The tragedy of the commons is a central concept in human ecology and the study of the environment It has had tremendous value for stimulating research but it only describes the reality of human environment interactions in special situations Research over the past thirty years has helped clarify how human motivations rules governing access to resources the structure of social organizations and the resource systems themselves interact to determine whether or not the many dramas of the commons end happily In this book leaders in the field review the evidence from several disciplines and many lines of research and present a state of the art assessment They summarize lessons learned and identify the major challenges facing any system of governance for resource management They also highlight the major challenges for the next decade making knowledge development more systematic understanding institutions dynamically considering a broader range of resources such as global and technological commons and taking into account the effects of social and historical context This book will be a valuable and accessible introduction to the field for students and a resource for advanced researchers

Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 1 Ganesh Shivakoti,Ujjwal Pradhan,Helmi Helmi,2016-09-01 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical area in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing the region Sustainable Natural Resources Management in Dynamic Southeast Asia Volume 1 pulls together regional experts in the field to look specifically at sustainability issues across the region to see what has been implemented what the impacts have been and what other options are available In the race to be a developed region many Southeast Asian countries have foregone natural resources through haphazard use As a result the people are faced with numerous environmental challenges particularly deforestation and forest degradation biodiversity loss and ecosystem degradation reduction in soil quality and decreases in the quantity of available water Community based forest management is the involvement of local communities in the protection conservation and management of public forests to prevent degradation through sustainable practices while still responding to the basic social and economic needs of local populations When the people who depend on forest resources for their livelihoods are jointly responsible for managing and protecting them they tend to do so in a more sustainable manner by focusing on the long term benefits rather than the immediate short term gains However when tenure rights are weak unclear or insecure or offer limited benefits people are incited in extracting more immediate benefits resulting in suboptimal forest management and the reduction of carbon stocks Features case studies that cover issues such as rising levels of deforestation forest degradation regional food security ecosystem degradation biodiversity loss conflicts over natural resource use water management issues and impacts on local communities Includes contributions from local researchers who are dealing with these issues first hand and on a daily basis Includes a comparative review on REDD implementation in different communities Focuses on sustainability issues across the region

growth and resource depletion are drawing increased attention to the importance of common resources such as forests water resources and fisheries It is critical that these resources be governed in an equitable and sustainable way The Commons in the New Millennium presents cutting edge research in common property theory and provides an overview and progress report on common property research The book analyzes new problems that owners managers policy makers and analysts face in managing natural commons It examines recent findings about the physical characteristics of the commons their complexity and interconnectedness and the role of social capital It also provides empirical studies and suggestions for sustainable development The topics discussed include the role of financial political and social capital in deforestation community efforts to gain political influence in Indonesia the Maine lobster industry outcomes of the implementation of individual transferable quotas in New Zealand and Iceland fisheries and design of multilateral emissions trading for regional air pollution and global warming

Arresting Development Craig Johnson, 2008-11-28 Scholars have become increasingly concerned about the impact of neo liberalism on the field of development Governments around the world have for some time been exposed to the forces of globalization and macro economic reform reflecting the power and influence of the world s principal international economic institutions and a broader commitment to the principles of neo classical economics and free trade Concerns have also been raised that neo classical theory now dominates the ways in which scholars frame and ask their questions in the field of development This book is about the ways in which ideologies shape the construction of knowledge for development A central theme concerns the impact of neo liberalism on contemporary development theory and research The book s main objectives are twofold One is to understand the ways in which neo liberalism has framed and defined the meta theoretical aims and assumptions of what is deemed relevant important and appropriate to the study of development A second is to explore the theoretical and ideological terms on which an alternative to neo classical theory may be theorized idealized and pursued By tracing the impact of Marxism postmodernism and liberalism on the study of development Arresting Development contends that development has become increasingly fragmented in terms of the theories and methodologies it uses to understand and explain complex and contextually specific processes of economic development and social change Outside of neo classical economics and related fields of rational choice the notion that social science can or should aim to develop general and predictive theories about development has become mired in a philosophical and political orientation that questions the ability of scholars to make universal or comparative statements about the nature of history cultural diversity and progress To advance the debate a case is made that development needs to re capture what the American sociologist Peter Evans once called the comparative institutional method At the heart of this approach is an inductive methodology that searches for commonalities and connections to broader historical trends and problems while at the same time incorporating divergent and potentially competing views about the nature of history culture and development This book will be of interest to scholars and students of Development Social and Political Studies and it will also be beneficial to professionals interested in the challenge of constructing knowledge for development      Sustainable Resource Use Alex Smajgl, Silva Larson, 2012

The way that humans organize both resource access and resource use is vital to the management of natural resources Within different contexts institutional arrangements such as the rules of common and private property rights become levers by which human behaviours can be modified and steered towards the goals of sustainable natural resource management Featuring contributions from leading thinkers in the field this groundbreaking volume examines institutional dynamics from the perspective of natural resource management The book is organized into four parts The first discusses institutional diversity and contextual change Following this institutional misfit is analysed with a strong focus on the long term impacts of colonial structures in the Asia Pacific region The book then discusses experiences with institutional dynamics in order to ease the tension of such misfits before examining future research needs Ultimately through careful argument and by deploying original research the authors make the case that institutional arrangements cannot be perceived as a set of parameters that can be optimized and locked in for the most efficient functioning of a system nor can institutions be evaluated outside the context in which they were developed This is powerful thought provoking and important reading for academics researchers policy makers and professionals in resource institutional and environmental economics and land use planning and policy across the full range of natural resource sectors from forestry to agriculture Published with CSIRO Cover image Blue Flower of Life c Theresa J Richardson 2006      Global Environmental Commons Eric Brousseau, Tom

Dedeurwaerdere, Pierre-André Juvet, Marc Willinger, 2012-07-26 Environmental challenges and the potential solutions to address them have a direct effect on living standards the organization of economies major infrastructures and modes of urbanization Since the publication of path breaking contributions on the governance of environmental resources in the early 1990s many political initiatives have been taken numerous governance experiments have been conducted and a large multi disciplinary field of research has opened up This interdisciplinary book takes stock of the knowledge that has accumulated to date and addresses new challenges in the provision of environmental goods It focuses on three essential dimensions with respect to governance First it addresses the issue of designing governance solutions through analyzing systems of rules and levels of organization in the governance and management of environmental issues Second it draws renewed attention to the negotiation processes among stakeholders playing a crucial role in reaching agreements over issues and solutions and in choosing and implementing particular policy instruments Finally it shows that compliance depends on a combination of formal rules enforced by recognized authorities and informal obligations such as social and individual norms The evolution of the research frontiers on environmental governance shows that more legitimate and informed processes of collective decision and more subtle and effective ways of managing compliance can contribute to more effective policy However this book also illustrates that more democratic and effective governance should rely on more direct and pluralistic forms of involvement of citizens and stakeholders in the collective decision making processes      The Global Commons Susan J. Buck, 2017-09-25

Antarctica the high seas and deep seabed the atmosphere and space are increasingly accessible and exploited resource domains Collectively known as the global commons they represent a new and profound challenge for international law and institutions In The Global Commons Susan Buck considers the unique physical legal management and policy problems associated with these areas The book is a clear useful introduction to the subject that will be of interest to general readers as well as to students in international relations international law and environmental law and policy Contesting the Commons Carolyn K. Environmental Economics, Experimental Methods Todd L. Cherry, Stephan Kroll, Jason Shogren, 2007-12-19 This book unites sixty three leading researchers in the area of experimental environmental economics and their latest explorations in its behavioural underpinnings with the critical advantage of appealing to experimental and non experimental economists

Urban Commons Christian Borch, Martin Kornberger, 2015-04-10 This book rethinks the city by examining its various forms of collectivity their atmospheres modes of exclusion and self organization as well as how they are governed on the basis of a critical discussion of the notion of urban commons The idea of the commons has received surprisingly little attention in urban theory although the city may well be conceived as a shared resource Urban Commons Rethinking the City offers an attempt to reconsider what a city might be by studying how the notion of the commons opens up new understandings of urban collectivities addressing a range of questions about urban diversity urban governance urban belonging urban sexuality urban subcultures and urban poverty but also by discussing in more methodological terms how one might study the urban commons In these respects the rethinking of the city undertaken in this book has a critical dimension as the notion of the commons delivers new insights about how collective urban life is formed and governed Uncommons in the Commons Rucha Ghatge, 2004 It Is A Study Of Five Truly Forest Dependent Communities Analyses The Process Of Formations And Working Of Community Forest Associations And Identities The Factors Responsible For The Success Of Community Efforts In Some Places Partial Success In Some Failure In Some Others And Lack Of Initiative In Still Others Has Seven Chapters The Last Being On Lessons Learnt An Appendix Political Theory and Community Building in Post-Soviet Russia Oleg Kharkhordin, Risto Alapuro, 2011-03-07 This book revisits many aspects of current social science theories such as actor network theory and the French school of science and technology studies to test how the theories apply in a specific situation in this case after 1991 in the city of Cherepovets in Russia home of Russia's second biggest steel producer Severstal Using political philosophy to analyse the down to earth details of the real techno scientific problems facing the world the book examines the role of things and urban infrastructure in particular in political change It considers how the city's infrastructure including housing ICT networks the provision of public utilities of all kinds has been transformed in recent years examines the roles of different actors including the municipal authorities and explores citizens differing and sometimes contradictory images of their city It includes a great deal of new thinking on how communities are built how common action is initiated to provide public goods and how the goods themselves physical things are a crucial driver of community action and community building arguably more so than more abstract social and human forces
