Making Wood Work Helen Birss,1993      Frameworks for Sustainable Forests and Communities Michael Hibbard,Matthew S. Carroll,Steven E. Daniels,Brett Kencairn,Paul Sommers,1996-07 Collectively the chapters in this exploratory study constitute a review of community economic development as a response in the Pacific Northwest to the globalization of the timber industry The history of federal policies concerning forest communities timber production is discussed recent social economic changes that are profoundly affecting forest communities are examined Case studies of new approaches to creating jobs wealth in forest communities are presented as well as research into the link between economic development social political development Charts tables      Starting a Cooperative for Hardwoods and Special Forest Products Deborah Gray,Mahlon G. Lang,1995      Making Forest Policy Work A.I. Fraser,2013-04-17 Policy issues relating to forestry have been the subject of much debate in recent years and many countries and international agencies have recently or are currently in the process of revising their policies for forestry Much of this debate has implied that previous policies have failed or been much less successful than had been hoped There is a tendency to think of policy as a matter for governments but it is now more widely appreciated that all shareholders in the forestry sector have a legitimate interest in both the policy objectives and the means that will be used to implement it This book is mainly concerned with the process of developing policy and the subsequent implementation than in specific content though many of the important issues which policies must address are discussed It is based on a review of many case studies with which the author has been personally involved over the past 40 years      Idaho's Forest Products Business Sector Philip S.
