EPA-600/5,1974-02 Ecology & Environ Mgmt Roger Park,2019-04-09 The aim of the present volume is to review the effects of human activity on physical environment processes and this is justified not only as a complement to the approach taken by G P Marsh his volume Man and Nature 1864 but also as a sequel to the work produced since 1864 with contributions since the mid nineteenth century to the study of th Man and Environment. Crisis and the Strategy of Choice. [With Plates.]. Robert ARVILL (pseud.),1967 Environment Kenneth E. Hornback, W. Keith Warner,1972

Environmental Change and Human Development Chris Barrow, 2014-04-04 Man and Environment Robert Arvill, 1967 Environmental Change and Human Development focuses on environmental change and human fortunes While there is a large and rapidly expanding literature dealing with how people affect the environment less attention has been given in recent years to how the environment shapes human development In an ever more crowded world there is a need for anticipatory environmental management and a crucial input to this is consideration of the interaction between environment and humans The environment is not as stable benign or controllable as people like to think The world population is vastly larger than it has ever been and is still growing and humans increasingly upset nature through pollution and other activities While modern communications may help environmental managers rapid travel also increases the dispersal of diseases and pests Technological advance and social development is not all beneficial some innovations have the effect of making people more vulnerable to disruption by natural disaster and citizens are often less able to cope with changed conditions than people were in the past Environmental Change and Human Development addresses key issues such as soil degredation natural climatic variations and volcanic activity and provides geography and earth sciences students with an essential introduciton to the major debates surrounding this topic Environment As a Focus for Public Policy Lynton Keith Caldwell, 1995 Before the environmental movement had gained prominence in this country one writer began to explore the environment and the human condition as a topic of public policy From 1963 through 1973 Lynton K Caldwell was alone among political scientists and policy analysts in writing about the subject in any breadth or depth His pioneering work led to his role as one of the architects of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1970 and established environmental policy and politics as a field of academic research Caldwell's early work is richly relevant to current understanding of environmental policy This volume brings together the best of his writing from that first decade making it available for policy debates theorizing and reference This collection is of both historical significance and contemporary relevance and will be invaluable to the many scholars and professionals across various disciplines fields and nations who have read and been profoundly influenced by Caldwell's more recent work including nine widely praised and cited books and dozens of articles. The fourteen articles and papers in this volume address the definition of environmental policy analysis of international environmental policy development and environmental policy as a product of and fundamental challenge to modernity An original analytical introduction by the volume editors places Caldwell's early work in the context of the research that has followed Caldwell has written especially for this book a new retrospective chapter a brief introduction to each article and an epilogue on the meaning of Man and Environment Robert Arvill, 1971 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog environmental policy National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1970 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Science, Technology, and Public Policy: Books, monographs, documents, and articles in journals, 1968 through 1970 Lynton Keith Caldwell, William B. There is a comprehensive index Human Settlements Sam Stuart, 2013-10-02 Human Settlements An Environmental Future Nicholas Polunin.1972-06-18 Annotated Bibliography is an annotated bibliography on human settlements and includes books journal articles reports and documents Documents from Habitat United Nations Conference on Human Settlements with National Reports are arranged alphabetically by country along with other Conference documents This book is comprised of four chapters and begins with a list of books journal articles reports and documents dealing with topics such as housing policies housing problems in underdeveloped areas and the effects of land reform and rural ordinance programs. The next chapter is devoted to a bibliography of bibliographies covering topics ranging from land use planning to rural roads and their potential The third chapter includes national reports from countries such as Afghanistan Algeria and Bangladesh The bibliography concludes with a subject index of key words subdivided geographically a secondary author index that includes personal and corporate authors editors compilers and authors of significant introductions and a list of libraries consulted This monograph should be of interest to housing officials and policymakers Reconciling Human Needs and Conserving Biodiversity: Large Landscapes as a New Conservation Paradigm Bila-Isia Inogwabini,2020-02-18 Protected areas have often been defined as the backbones of biodiversity conservation Protected areas have often been defined as the backbones of biodiversity conservation However legitimate demands formulated by countries for their economic development growing human populations forest fragmentations and needs of local communities for sustainable livelihoods are also pressing demands on protected areas stringently pressuring conservation community to identify means to reconcile long term biodiversity conservation and communities livelihoods Hence integrating conservation activities within the global framework of economic development of countries with high biodiversity had become part of conservation paradigms Integrated development as a route to conservation strict protected areas community managed areas etc have been tried but resulted in debatable outcomes in many ways The lukewarm nature of these results brought landscape approach at the front of biodiversity conservation in Central Africa Since the late 1990s the landscape approach uses large areas with different functional attributes and shifts foundational biodiversity conservation paradigms Changes are brought to the role traditionally attributed to local communities aligning sustainable development with conservation and stretching conservation beyond the confines of traditional protected areas These three shifts need a holistic approach to respond to different conservation questions There are only a few instances where the landscape experience has been scientifically documented and lessons learnt drawn into a corpus of knowledge to guide future conservation initiatives across Central Africa To subjugate one biodiversity conservation landscape as one case study emerged as a matter of urgency to present the potential knowledge acquired throughout the landscape experiment including leadership and management processes tried results at least partially achieved and why such and such other process or management arrangement were been chosen among many other alternatives etc The challenges of the implementation of the conservation landscape approach needed also to be documented This book responds to the majority of these questions drawing its content from the firsthand field knowledge it discusses these shifts and documents what has been tried how successful unsuccessful it was and what lessons learnt from these trials Theoretical questions such as threat index and ecological services etc are also discussed and gaps in knowledge are identified Library Services for the Department of Environmental Protection (a Survey) Connecticut State Library.
