Mackey, 2012-12-06 Like the lines of a secret map made dimly apparent by the chemical potion brushed on a piece of paper from a child's detective kit the outlines of what may be a substantial behavioral biology of human life seem to be coming clear From genetic science at its most molecular to demography with its assessment of the vital experience of massive populations there is a growing understanding of the various ways in which the human species reveals underlying commonalities of experience through the life cycle and over the web of interactions that constitutes the basic matter of social life At the same time research has been successful in two superficially and contradictory directions first in showing the enormous variation in human arrangements and consciousness across and within cultures and second in showing the similarity between cultures as far as basic processes of physiology neurophysiology and even so-called life are concerned But the contradiction only exists in the absence of an understanding of the fact that in a species living under as many ecological historical and economic niches as Homo sapiens cultural variation is what one would naturally expect      The Expression of Possession William McGregor, 2009 This collection of nine original articles deals with the expression of possession at various levels of grammar morphological phrasal and syntactic and from a typologically diverse range of languages including Germanic Oceanic Meso American and Australian Aboriginal There are two main aims The first is to reveal something of the range of constructions employed cross linguistically in the expression of possession and second to present an understanding of the possessive relation itself as a cognitive and linguistic phenomenon A guiding principle in the selection of contributors has been to invite linguists whose research while not necessarily directly dealing with possession touches on it and indicates that they are likely to provide fresh perspectives on this well-trodden field Key features William McGregor is a well-known expert in this field of research Possession is a paradigm for studies on typology ethnology etc because a multitude of linguistic and cultural varieties are reflected in this field new series textbook Trust Companies ,1928 A Relational Grammar of Kinyarwanda Alexandre Kimenyi,1980 The Mirror of Literature, Amusement, and Instruction Thomas Byerly,John Timbs,1843 *The Apocalypse Explained According to the Spiritual Sense. Family Structures in the RSA Anna F. Steyn,1994 Man and Woman and Child Harold W. Percival,1992 This extraordinary little book simply written opens vistas into fields which have been shrouded in mystery for centuries Here you will learn about humanity s descent into mortal bodies of birth and death Here too you will learn the true identity of you the conscious self in the body and how you may break the hypnotic spell your senses and thinking have cast about you since childhood Early in the life of a new growing body the conscious Self influenced by its senses begins to make adjustments in thinking feeling and desiring Gradually it comes to identify itself completely with its body thereby losing touch with its true eternal identity This darkness leads the human further away from understanding its origin and ultimate destiny Man and Woman and Child shows how to re discover who and what we really are These assertions are not based on fanciful hopes They are substantiated by the anatomical physiological biological and psychological evidences given herein which you can if you will examine consider and judge and then do what you think best H W Percival Ibrahim the Mad and Other Plays Talat S.
