Mathe,R.K. Oldham,2012-12-06 G MATHE and R K OLDHAM Institut de Cancerologie et d Immunogem tique Hopital Paul Brousse Villejuif Since the last war cancer chemotherapy has been the object of very intensive and expensive research Nevertheless its development has been very slow and its ultimate potential is today somewhat in doubt In doubt because it does not cure any cancer patients except a females carrying placental choriocarcinoma a semi allogenic tumor in which case cure may be influenced by immune rejection and b children suffering from Burkitt s tumor where the probable reason for the cure is that all the neoplastic cells are in the cycle which is a unique condition among all the human tumor varieties Whether the long term survivors in acute leukemia lymphomas certain sarcomas and certain testicular tumors are cures will require longer follow up The idea that chemotherapy does not cure most cancer patients because all their neoplastic cells are not in cycle has led to the use of drug combinations Whatever they are cocktail combinations which are made up of drugs given according to any timing or scientific combinations based on pharmacodynamics pharmacokinetics or cell kinetics data are more toxic than single drugs and are all the more toxic as the number of drugs in the combination is increased

Livingston, 2018-02-01

The title of this volume implies two things the greatness of the scientific tradition that Muslims had lost and the power of the

West in whose threatening shadow reformers now labored to modernize in order to defend themselves against those very powers they were taking as models Copernicus and Darwin were the names that dominated the debate on science whose arguments and rebuttals were published mainly in the religious and secular journals in Cairo and Beirut from the 1870s Analysis and interpretation of this literature shows the hope that Arab reformers had of duplicating the Japanese success followed by the despair when success was denied A cultural malaise festered from generations of despair defeat and foreign occupation and this feeling transmogrified after 1967 to a psychosis in a significant number of secular writers educators and religious reformers The great debate on assimilating science was turned inward where defensive mechanisms of denial spun out perversions of science the Quran becoming a thesaurus of science and a more extreme derivative of that something called Islamic Science arising as an alternate science that was to be in harmony with the Quran Shari a and Muslim belief This volume reveals the undermining effect of European imperialism on western oriented religious reformers and secular intellectuals for whom science and political reform went together and concludes with a chapter on the state of science in contemporary Muslim societies and the efforts to institutionalize science before the upheavals of 2011 so as to bring to life an authentic and indigenous culture that would sustain scientific study and research as autonomous pursuits Bunny
