Man His Becoming:

Man and His Becoming According to the Vedanta René Guénon, 2001 Gu non published his fundamental doctrinal work Man and His Becoming according to the Vedanta in 1925 After asserting that the Vedanta represents the purest metaphysics in Hindu doctrine he acknowledges the impossibility of ever expounding it exhaustively and states that the specific object of his study will be the nature and constitution of the human being Nonetheless taking the human being as point of departure he goes on to outline the fundamental principles of all traditional metaphysics He leads the reader gradually to the doctrine of the Supreme Identity and its logical corollary the possibility that the being in the human state might in this very life attain liberation the unconditioned state where all separateness and risk of reversion to manifested existence ceases Although Gu non chose the doctrine of the Advaita school and in particular that of Shankara as his basis Man and His Becoming should not be considered exclusively an exposition of this school and of this master It is rather a synthetic account drawing not only upon other orthodox branches of Hinduism but not infrequently also upon the teachings of other traditional forms Neither is it a work of erudition in the sense of the orientalist and historians of religion who study doctrines from the outside but represents knowledge of the traditionally transmitted and effective sacred science Gu non treats other aspects of Hinduism in his Introduction to the Study of the Hindu Doctrines and Studies in Hinduism

Intermedialities Henk Oosterling, Ewa Plonowska Ziarek, 2012-07-10 Bringing together an international and interdisciplinary group of scholars Intermedialities Philosophy Arts Politics is a comprehensive collection devoted to the new field of research called intermedialities The concept of intermedialities stresses the necessity of situating philosophical and political debates on social relations in the divergent contexts of media theories avant garde artistic practices continental philosophy feminism and political theory The intermedial approach to social relations does not focus on the shared identity but instead on the epistemological ethical and political status of inter being in between At stake here are the political analyses of new modes of being in common that transcend national boundaries the critique of the new forms of domination that accompany them and the search for new emancipatory possibilities Opening a new approach to social relations intermedialities investigates not only engagements between already constituted positions but even more the interval antagonism and differences that form and decenter these positions Consequently in opposition to the resurgence of cultural and ethnic particularisms and to the leveling of difference produced by globalization the political and ethical analysis of the in between enables a conception of community based on difference exposure and interaction with others rather than on an identification with a shared identity Investigations of in betweenness both as medium specific and between heterogeneous sites of inquiry range here from philosophical conceptuality to artistic practices from the political circulation of money and power to the operation of new technologies They inevitably invoke the crucial role of embodiment in creative thought and collective acting As a mediating instance between the psyche and society
