Human Evolution Bernard Campbell, 2017-09-04 In this new fourth edition Campbell has revised and updated his classic introduction to the field Human Evolution synthesizes the major findings of modern research and theory and presents a complete and integrated account of the evolution of human beings New developments in microbiology and recent fossil records are incorporated into the enormous range of this volume with the resulting text as lucid and comprehensive as earlier editions The fourth edition retains the thematic structure and organization of the third with its cogent treatment of human variability and speciation primate locomotion and nonverbal communication and the evolution of language supported by more than 150 detailed illustrations and an expanded and updated glossary and bibliography As in prior editions the book treats evolution as a concomitant development of the main behavioral and functional complexes of the genus Homo among them motor control and locomotion mastication and digestion the senses and reproduction It analyzes each complex in terms of its changing function and continually stresses how the separate complexes evolve interdependently over the long course of the human journey All these aspects are placed within the context of contemporary evolutionary and genetic theory analyses of the varied extensions of the fossil record and contemporary primatology and comparative morphology The result is a primary text for undergraduate and graduate courses one that will also serve as required reading for anthropologists biologists and nonspecialists with an interest in human evolution

Wolf and Man Roberta L. Hall, Henry S. Sharp, 2014-05-10 Wolf and Man Evolution in Parallel is a collection of papers that discusses certain crucial attributes of humans including traits that are shared with other social predators Some papers describe the wolf as the equal of man the animal is a social hunter of large game disregards human boundaries and properties and consume livestock when it is necessary The wolf s will to survive is as great as that of man and brings along many resources to the competition Several papers review the behavior and culture of man wolf dog and the Chipewyan people who hunted caribou Another paper examines the communication cognitive mapping and strategy in wolves and hominids Hominids have developed cognitive maps forced by their predation on large animals to cover wider ranges to communicate and form complex sequences of utterances One paper notes that the wolf was able to penetrate on every continent except Australia and Africa due to the Australian continent s isolation In Africa there is no ecological space for another highly organized social hunter of large game The collection can be appreciated by anthropologists sociologists psychologists and scientists involved in paleontology and human evolution
