Developing Nursing Practice with Children and Young People Jane Hughes, Geraldine Lyte, 2015-09-08 Developing Nursing Practice with Children and Young People explores the context of children's nursing in light of recent policy changes and looks at contemporary issues and emerging roles within the field Divided into four parts Part One focuses on the emergence of children's nursing in healthcare detailing events and developments that have shaped the role of children's nurses Part Two examines many aspects of practice for registered practitioners in nursing ranging from acute care settings to children's nurses developing roles in primary care mental health and with children and young people with special health and social needs Part Three then provides a detailed analysis of advanced practice in children's nursing The advanced skills portfolio is presented in depth augmented by exemplars of a number of advanced practice roles which have already been established Finally Part Four builds on the previous three parts by offering several case studies from practice including accounts from children young people and families as well as assistant practitioners and student nurses The text concludes by focusing on the longer term scope for children's nurses Expanding Horizons Karen J. Ripoll-Núñez, Anna Laura Comunian, Carrie M. Brown, 2012 Expanding Horizons Current Research on Interpersonal Acceptance offers readers an outstanding collection of papers that reflects current trends in research on interpersonal acceptance. Papers in this volume cover a variety of questions and topics with regard to issues of acceptance/rejection by significant figures in parent/child, sibling, peer, and adult intimate relationships. Also, several papers deal with the implications of interpersonal acceptance for the development and educational achievement of children/college students as well as children with special needs. Lastly, an entire section of the book is devoted to methodological issues in the evaluation of interpersonal acceptance across cultures. The authors draw on the perspectives of different disciplines such as educational psychology, anthropology, sociology, developmental psychology, and family studies. Research findings discussed in this collection of papers have important implications for professionals working in different contexts to strengthen family relationships, teacher and peer relationships in schools, and couple relationships. As such, the book constitutes a useful reference source for graduate students, academic researchers, clinicians, teachers, special educators, school counselors, and service agencies. Scholars who contributed to this book come from different parts of the world, including the Americas, Asia, Australia, Europe, and the Middle East.

The Nursing Companion Peter Birchenall, Nicola Adams, 2011-01-07 Are you thinking about studying nursing? Do you have an upcoming interview? Or have you just been accepted on a course? Do you need a guide? Then this book is for you. The number of students applying for nursing is increasing every year, making each place more competitive and more precious. This book will give you the edge in your application, knowledge for your interview, and support throughout your course. This trusty companion will answer your queries and settle your concerns, giving you an insight into the world of nursing. The experienced team of authors introduce the different branches of nursing, define the key concepts you will study on your course, give you an insight into specialist study skills, help you to understand research, offer advice on professional development and life after university. Using case studies, activities, and incorporating four end-of-part glossaries, this one-stop resource will prepare you for the experience of being a student nurse and equip you for the challenges of the profession.

Achieving Successful Transitions for Young People with Disabilities Natalie Lackenby, Jill Hughes, 2015-06-21 This best practice guide provides a blueprint for managing seamless transitions between services for young people aged 16-25 with additional needs, including learning disabilities, physical disabilities, complex health needs, and sensory impairments.

Childhood and Disability in the Nordic Countries R. Traustadóttir, B. Ytterhus, S. Egilson, B. Berg, 2015-05-05 This collection provides a comprehensive insight into disabled children and youth in Nordic countries. It seeks to understand the experiences of children from their own perspectives and takes a multidisciplinary approach grounded in the new social studies of childhood and the Nordic relational approach to disability.

Practices in Children's Nursing E-Book Ethel Trigg, Toby Mohammed, Louise Ford, Hermione Montgomery, Vicky Vidler, 2010-06-17 The skills required by children's nurses are many and varied and are undertaken in a variety of settings Sick children are cared for at home in children s units and hospitals and sometimes in adult wards In addition children with disabilities may need nursing care while at special schools or in residential settings This book provides a clinical manual of common practices Each practice is research based and presented in a common format which covers Objectives Rationale Factors to note Guidelines Positioning Equipment Method Special observations and possible complications References and further reading The guidelines have been written specifically for children s nursing by contributors from well known children s units They are not simply adaptations from adult practices and therefore recognise the unique differences between adult and children s nursing The introductory section covers common concepts and infection control There is also a chapter on complementary therapies and an appendix on the use of play as a distraction All hospital and community nurses dealing with children whether at home in specialised units or in community settings will find the book of great practical help The common format of each practice makes the book easy to use and refer to in a clinical setting Each practice is based on the latest research to ensure it is evidence based and up to date Introductory chapters cover issues common to all practices to make the book easier to use The appendix on play reinforces its common usage as a distraction technique A chapter on complementary therapies explains these as they are becoming more widespread All practices have been reviewed by regional centres to avoid parochialism Content reorganised to reflect the Essential Skills Clusters from the NMC New chapter on communicating with children All chapters updated to reflect the current evidence base implementing the requirements of the children's National Service Framework that will support the expansion of Community Children's Nursing and enable it to move forward and away from fragmented service delivery. Bringing together the work of some of the most distinguished experts in the field there is comprehensive coverage of the key aspects of Community Children's Nursing including multi-disciplinary interagency planning, provision of nursing services to sick children and their families in a range of community settings and the needs of both the recipients and providers of care within the trajectory of acute life-limiting and terminal illness. This edition provides invaluable knowledge for all professionals and students involved with Community Children's Nurses wherever sick children and their families receive care or treatment including health visitors, school nurses, district nurses, social workers, acute base nurses, mental health nurses, learning disability nurses, GPs, commissioners and managers of services, paediatricians, children's hospices, independent providers and the voluntary sector. The first and only book on this topic addressed specifically at the Community Children's Nurse (CCN). An authoritative guide to the principles underpinning the development of the specialty which puts into context the scope of the CCN's work and clearly describes his/her place in the community team. A balance of the theoretical and practical presented by the key names in this field. Offers up-to-date evidence which supports the development of this rapidly expanding specialty. Foreword by Elizabeth Fradd, Independent Health Service Advisor, UK. New chapters have been added on the topics of Developing a national strategy and corporate identity for Community Children's Nursing; Delivering and funding care for children with complex needs; Strategic planning and commissioning of services; Benchmarking; Transitional care. The following chapters have been rewritten and expanded: Young carers; Complementary therapies; Partnerships with the voluntary sector; Health promotion; Information management. The role of the Community Children's Nurse Manager is also explored in depth. CCDBG Reauthorization United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions. Subcommittee on Children and Families, 2015. Challenge and Change for the Early Years Workforce Christine Ritchie, 2014-12-02. The early years sector is going through a period of unprecedented change. This has resulted in significant challenges for the early years workforce and it is crucial that settings, teams, leaders and individual practitioners respond to these if they wish to continue to provide the best care and education for young children. This timely text identifies and addresses the key challenges for those working with young children from managing personal and professional change, adapting to new legislation and considering new ways of thinking about children's early learning. It considers the core knowledge and understanding of good practice that enables practitioners to respond appropriately and with confidence to issues they face on a daily basis. Covering a wide range of diverse topics including professional identity, neuroscience, outdoor education, literacy, special educational needs, the family and the risk factor, the book encourages the reader to reflect upon their own views and attitudes towards change, practice and includes Chapter overviews and summary boxes, Case studies to highlight good practice, Questions to promote debate, Annotated further reading. Aimed specifically at those that are studying and working with children from birth
