The Dynamics of Wage Relations in the New Europe Linda Clarke, Peter de Gijss, Jörn Janssen, 2012-12-06
The Dynamics of Wage Relations in the New Europe is an offspring of a research project on Disparities in Wage Relations and the Reproduction of Skills in Europe. At a meeting of the advisory committee for this research held at the University of Westminster in London on 14th November 1994 it was decided by Linda Clarke, Jörn Janssen, Henryk Lewandowski, Philippe Mehaut, Patrick Rozenblatt and Frank Wilkinson to set up a larger international committee to develop a programme and seek funding from the European Commission for a symposium of experts on wage relations. This committee of ten scientific experts was formed and invited to a number of meetings throughout 1995 and 1996 by DG V of the European Commission in order to develop a programme and proposal for a symposium to take place in 1997. Eventually the proposal formally submitted by University of Westminster, London, University of Maastricht, Netherlands, Fachhochschule Dortmund, Germany and University of Osnabrück, Germany was accepted by the European Commission in May 1996. Additional funding was then obtained from the Hans Bockler Stiftung and the Dutch Organisation for Scientific Research allowing in particular participants from Central and East European countries to be invited. The subject of wage relations as a central issue of European social policy was intended to be tackled in an open debate between scientists and policy makers, the latter as individual experts rather than representatives.

People and Culture in Construction Andrew Dainty, Stuart Green, Barbara Bagilhole, 2007-05-07
Construction is one of the largest and most people intensive industrial sectors. In many countries however construction is also one of the most highly criticized in terms of its employment practices and industrial relations. People and culture are too often seen as variables that must be manipulated in the cause of improved productivity. This important new work provides an essential corrective to the current literature by focusing on people and culture rather than sector efficiency. It presents the latest thinking from a diversity of perspectives derived from a major ESRC seminar series and invited contributions from leading researchers. Its interdisciplinary approach draws together industry and research and is international in its relevance. Through several multidisciplinary themes, People and Culture in Construction explores the industry's labour market and the major influences on employment patterns, examines how to improve the image and reality of the construction sector as an employer looks at the forces shaping the industry and implications for its stability, considers the current composition of the workforce and the potential impacts of workforce diversification, analyzes the impact of government targets and policies on construction working practices and culture, investigates how to address the skills shortfall currently affecting the industry's performance.

Strategic Review of Construction Skills Training, 1998
Background Introduction Changing skill requirements The need for systemic skills Output employment and training Skill shortages Business process changes and new technologies Skills development Training provision Organisation of training Construction qualifications and skills certification Comparisons of training in Britain, the Netherlands and Germany

Labour Immigration in Southern

Europe Cristóbal Mendoza, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2003 Research on migration into southern Europe has paid little consideration to the ways of incorporating immigrants into labour markets and the impact these foreign born workers have on local labour markets Neither has much attention been given to the character of labour markets that enables these workers to find a job This book fills that gap by exploring case studies of African employment in Spain and Portugal Using cross border perspectives this book provides in depth analysis of common trends across borders such as immigrant employment in manual low skilled jobs uneven immigrant involvement in labour markets and the impact of national characteristics economies and political environments The result is a study which should be useful for migration specialists economic geographers and labour market analysts alike

Homeownership, Renting and Society Sebastian Kohl, 2017-04-07 On the eve of the financial crisis the USA was inhabited by almost 70 percent homeownership households in comparison to about 45 percent in Germany Homeownership Renting and Society presents new evidence showing that this homeownership gap already existed between American and German cities around 1900 Existing explanations based on culture government housing policy or typical socio economic factors have difficulties in accounting for these long term cross country differences Using historical case studies on Germany and the USA the book identifies three institutional domains on the supply side of the housing market urban land housing finance and construction that set countries on different housing trajectories and subsequently established differences that were hard to reverse in later periods Further chapters generalize the argument across other OECD Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development countries and extend the explanation to cover historical differences in homeownership ideology and horizontal property institutions This enlightening volume also puts forward path dependence theories in housing studies connects housing with vast urban history and political economy literature and offers comprehensive insights about the case of a tenant s country which contradicts the tendency towards universal homeownership Providing an all new historic institutionalist explanation of the German American homeownership gap this title will be of interest to postgraduate students and scholars interested in fields including Housing Studies Sociology Urban History Political Economy Social Policy and Geography It may also be of interest to those working in housing field organizations and ministries

The Rent of Form Pedro Fiori Arantes, 2019-06-11 A critique of prominent architects approach to digitally driven design and labor practices over the past two decades With the advent of revolutionary digital design and production technologies contemporary architects and their clients developed a taste for dramatic unconventional forms

Seeking to amaze their audiences and promote their global brands starchitects like Herzog de Meuron and Frank Gehry have reaped substantial rewards through the pursuit of spectacle enabled by these new technologies This process reached a climax in projects like Gehry's Guggenheim Bilbao and the Bilbao effect in which spectacular architectural designs became increasingly sought by municipal and institutional clients for their perceived capacity to enhance property values which author Pedro Fiori Arantes calls the rent of form Analyzing many major international architectural projects of the past twenty years Arantes provides an in depth account of how this architecture of exception has come to dominate today's industry Articulating an original compelling critique of the capital and labor practices that enable many contemporary projects Arantes explains how circulation via image culture consumption particularly through tourism the division of labor and the distribution of wealth came to fix a certain notion of starchitecture at the center of the industry Significantly Arantes's viewpoint is not that of Euro American capitalism Writing from the Global South this Brazilian theorist offers a fresh perspective that advances ideas less commonly circulated in dominant English language academic and popular discourse Asking key questions about the prevailing logics of finance capital and revealing inconvenient truths about the changing labor of design and the treatment of construction workers around the world The Rent of Form delivers a much needed reevaluation of the astonishing buildings that have increasingly come to define world cities

International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall, Terry Gourvish, Steven Tolliday, 2013-12-16 The field of business history has changed and grown dramatically over the last few years There is less interest in the traditional company centred approach and more concern about the wider business context With the growth of multi national corporations in the 1980s international and inter firm comparisons have gained in importance In addition there has been a move towards improving links with mainstream economic financial and social history through techniques and outlook The International Bibliography of Business History brings all of the strands together and provides the user with a comprehensive guide to the literature in the field The Bibliography is a unique volume which covers the depth and breadth of research in business history This exhaustive volume has been compiled by a team of subject specialists from around the world under the editorship of three prestigious business historians

Authentic Reconstruction John Bold, Peter Larkham, Robert Pickard, 2017-12-14 Notions of authenticity lie at the heart of many questions about heritage and identity in the built environment These questions are most pertinent when buildings have been destroyed in disaster or war and the built fabric is being reconstructed to reinstate traditional or historic appearances in place of what was lost Authentic Reconstruction examines this idea of reconstruction using it as a prompt to examine a range of deeper issues on heritage and the built environment From post WWII reconstruction programmes through to the rebuilding of historic cultural landscapes lost in natural disasters this collection of essays by heritage specialists provides a wide range of case studies and discussions Each presents responses to crises and lessons learned in order to extrapolate general guidelines for future actions by politicians architects and planners in reconstructing buildings The book also looks beyond disaster and war noting how authenticity bears on political intentions and image building exploring how reconstruction is used to tell a political or historical story so conditioning the ways in which the built environment is perceived and appreciated by its users This is not just about the buildings as bricks and mortar but about perceptions of identity and the social and historical values which buildings and spaces embody for a richly diverse population This book will be valuable to all who are concerned with heritage as practitioners or consumers particularly those concerned with reconstruction and the creation of authentic places and experiences architects architectural historians town planners preservationists conservationists and those involved in heritage management and material culture
