Rethinking Interagency Collaboration And Young People:

Education, Social Justice and Inter-Agency Working Sheila Riddell, Lyn Tett, 2003-08-27 This book explores policy and practice in a range of areas where education and other agencies interact Its theme is central to those interested in promoting social justice for adults and children experiencing the effects of exclusion Rethinking Inter-agency

Collaboration and Young People Helen Stokes, Debra Tyler, 1997 Improving Educational Equity in Urban Contexts

Carlo Raffo, 2013-12-17 An enduring educational concern that has plagued researchers and policy makers in a number of affluent countries is the endemic nature of educational inequalities These inequalities highlight distinct differences in the educational skills knowledge capabilities and credentials between learners demographic characteristics They also point to issues of educational disadvantage that emanate from a combination of factors including family life communities the geographies of space and place gender and ethnicity This book examines some of the causes and responses to educational inequalities and focuses upon poor urban contexts where educational disadvantage is at its most concentrated and where educational policy and practice has over time proliferated It questions how wider inequities experienced by young people in urban contexts generate educational inequalities and disadvantage detailing explicitly what an equitable approach to education might look like Included in the book is an innovative educational equity framework and toolkit with illustrative policy and practice case studies bringing together unique scholarship and analysis to examine future educational policy in a holistic comprehensive and equitable way It will be valuable reading for postgraduate students researchers and policy makers with an interest in education and educational equity Children Taken Seriously Jan Mason, Toby

Fattore, 2005-01-15 In Children Taken Seriously leading researchers and policy makers consider how children can be recognized as social actors rather than passive consumers or victims Using children s own views and experiences as a starting point they explore how children can be involved as partners in the decision making processes that affect them in social work education health care and broader social policies Chapters on the theoretical background draw parallels between developments in children s and women s rights and discuss communication issues and social and sexual constructions of children Other chapters explore issues of policy and practice in a variety of areas from Family Group Conferencing and child protection to child labour and notions of active citizenship Highlighting the important role of schools in empowering children the authors discuss children s engagement in and participation in their own education and how children s rights theory influences debates over discipline This accessible and thought provoking book is a rich source of insight and ideas for social workers teachers mental health professionals and anyone working with children Reconsidering Resilience in Education Adeela Ahmed Shafi, Tristan Middleton, Richard Millican, Sian Templeton, 2020-09-03 This book explores the concept of resilience and its significance in responding to a rapid and ever changing globalised world whilst critiquing its buzzword status in contemporary times Drawing on research from a range of educational settings the book demonstrates that the resilience of individuals and their surrounding systems should not be viewed in isolation and that the interplay between individual resilience community resilience and resilient societies is complex and symbiotic On this basis it illustrates that efforts to promote resilience would benefit from a systems approach capable of coping with this complexity Using the ideas of agency and the power of self determinism a development of Bronfenbrenner s bio ecological model is presented to illustrate the complexity of their interplay Existing models of resilience are developed with the book offering the Dynamic Interactive Model of Resilience DIMoR as a way to analyse and support resilience which moves beyond a reductionist descriptive and fashionable presentation of resilience

Social Security Journal ,1999 Disability and the Life Course Mark Priestley,2001-07-05 Disability and the Life Course first published in 2001 explores the global experience of disability using a novel life course approach The book explores how disabling societies impact on disabled people s life experiences and highlights the ways in which disabled people have acted to take more control over their own lives It provides a unique combination of analysis policy issues and autobiography offering the reader a rare opportunity to make links between the theoretical the political and the personal in a single volume The material is set in a truly international context with contributions from thirteen different countries bringing together established and emerging writers both disabled and non disabled The book bridges some important gaps in the existing disability literature by including issues relevant to disabled people of all ages and with different kinds of impairments and also by offering a unique analysis of the relationship between disability and generation in a changing world

Educating for Resilience Graeme Withers,Jean Russell,2001 Presents a framework or generalised model for the development of policy and practice in the care education and support of all young people Part 1 presents a grounded argument about principles underlying prevention and intervention and Part 2 presents a statement of the preferred model with structures and programs

Juvenile Justice Chris Cunneen,Robert Douglas White,2002 This book provides an introduction to the main concepts and issues in juvenile justice in Australia and provides a consolidated overview of the dynamics of youth crime and the institutions of social control This book will be of particular interest to criminology and law students

Promoting Successful Transition to Adulthood for Students with Disabilities Robert L. Morgan,Tim Riesen,2016-02-01 Comprehensively addressing the challenges of transition this book provides practical knowledge and tools geared toward real world educators It presents clear guidelines for all aspects of team based transition planning for individuals with various levels of disability illustrated with vignettes of three secondary students who are followed throughout the book The authors describe evidence based practices for conducting assessments and promoting optimal outcomes in the areas of employment postsecondary education and independent living Keys to family involvement self determination interagency collaboration and problem solving are highlighted Several reproducible forms can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1 2 x 11 size

Inter-agency Collaboration Ann Glaister,Robert T. D. Glaister,2005 Policy developments increasingly require public services to work across traditional professional boundaries

This volume draws together some Scottish case studies of collaborative activity across education health and social work which focus upon children and considers issues emerging at the interface between policy and practice from the different professional perspectives There is beginning to appear some evaluation of the policies in Scotland But while policy is national implementation is local having to take account of local constraints and opportunities and being implemented by individual practitioners Interagency Collaboration conveys a sense of the experience of what is happening on the ground and to illustrate the impact at operational practitioner level It will appeal to policy makers and students of new partnerships for the development of services for children For We Are Young And . . . ? Sally Beadle,Roger Holdsworth,Johanna Wyn,2011-03-15 For we are young and offers a provocative perspective on Australia s young people against a global and local backdrop of uncertainty and change It asserts the importance of a critically informed and positive approach to youth moving beyond seeing young people through the lens of shortcomings and problems to be solved For we are young and draws directly on the work of the Youth Research Centre at The University of Melbourne and its legacy of innovative and significant research on young Australians Opening with the theoretical context of youth research the book draws on contemporary examples to discuss new conceptual and research approaches the ways in which young people participate in change and the challenges and possibilities that are presented by current conditions For we are young and identifies emerging issues and future directions for youth research policy and professional practice Resources in Education ,2001 The Youth Service Bureau Sherwood Norman,1972 Nurturing Hidden Resilience in Troubled Youth Michael Ungar,2004-01-01 Timely in subject and original in perspective Nurturing Hidden Resilience in Troubled Youth challenges what popular media refer to as a youth problem The SAGE Handbook of Special Education Lani Florian,2013-12-14 The second edition of The SAGE Handbook of Special Education provides a comprehensive overview of special education offering a wide range of views on key issues from all over the world The contributors bring together up to date theory research and innovations in practice with an emphasis on future directions for the role of special education in a global context of inclusion This brand new edition features New chapters on families interagency collaboration and issues of lifelong learning The UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Policy reform proposals Equity and social justice in education The impact of new thinking on assessment Issues and developments in classification The preparation and qualifications that teachers need The Handbook s breadth clarity and academic rigour will make it essential reading for researchers and postgraduate students and also for practitioners teachers school managers and administrators The Professoriate: Challenges and Promises Paul V. Bredson,Jay Paredes Scribner,1998-04-28 The 1995 NCPEA Yearbook is organized into five major sections The first The Landscapes of Change Challenges for Professors of Educational Administration contains four chapters that frame the major themes and issues of the 1994 conference In Section 2 Educational Leadership and Development Program Theoretical Perspectives the authors explore theoretical lenses for examining the preparation of educational leaders and the development of educational administration programs Section 3 Responding to New Realities Program Development in Educational Administration contains detailed descriptions of emerging educational realities that have begun to trigger program changes and innovations in departments of educational leadership at six institutions Rethinking and Revisioning Teaching and Learning to prepared Educational Leaders Section 4 offers five excellent vignettes of changes and challenges for professors in creating new teaching and learning environments for themselves and their students In the final section Policies Programs and Practices Investigations in Educational Administration six chapters relate the finds of researchers using very different research designs and methods The implications for professors of educational administration and for all educational stakeholders are discussed
