STEM contexts Through a variety of case studies readers will access a theoretical foundation and practical examples of how to design and implement content based courses with a focus on STEM The book explores the challenges and opportunities of teaching Russian in the context of STEM providing educators with the tools and knowledge to create engaging and relevant language courses for today s students Teaching Russian Through STEM will be of interest to Russian language instructors curriculum developers and researchers in the field of Russian language pedagogy It will be particularly valuable for those interested in innovating their language courses and aligning them with the growing demand for STEM education

Industrial & Mining Standard ,1905      Content-Based Teaching of Russian as a Foreign Language Jason Merrill,Olga Makarova,Svetlana V. Nuss,2025-05-19 Content Based Teaching of Russian as a Foreign Language explores how content based instruction can be applied in the teaching of Russian as an additional or heritage language Bringing together the perspectives and experiences of scholar practitioners this edited collection presents diverse contemporary approaches to the content based instruction of Russian Through case studies that detail content based courses and their evolution over recent years the volume offers valuable insights into pedagogical innovation for developing and modernizing curricula While grounded in research the case studies emphasize practical application providing models that can be adapted or replicated Each chapter offers lessons learned to help educators tailor these courses to various settings The chapters span all proficiency levels from beginner to advanced and they engage with a wide range of content The book will appeal to instructors of Russian in the fields of Russian studies and Slavonic studies as well as anyone interested in Russian language pedagogy foreign language acquisition or curriculum development      Transformative Language Learning and Teaching

Betty Lou Leaver,Dan E. Davidson,Christine Campbell,2021-01-21 A seminal work in the field this book shows how transformative education can be applied to world language programs      Explaining Russian-German code-mixing Nikolay Hakimov,2021 The study of grammatical variation in language mixing has been at the core of research into bilingual language practices Although various motivations have been proposed in the literature to account for possible mixing patterns some of them are either controversial or remain untested Little is still known about whether and how frequency of use of linguistic elements can contribute to the patterning of bilingual talk This book is the first to systematically explore the factor usage frequency in a corpus of bilingual speech The two aims are i to describe and analyze the variation in mixing patterns in the speech of Russia German adolescents and young adults in Germany and ii to propose and test usage based explanations of variation in mixing patterns in three morphosyntactic contexts the adjective modified noun phrase the prepositional phrase and the plural marking of German noun insertions in bilingual sentences In these contexts German noun insertions combine with either Russian or German words and grammatical markers thus yielding mixed bilingual and German monolingual constituents in otherwise Russian sentences the latter also labelled as embedded language islands The results suggest that the frequency with which words are used together mediates the distribution of mixing patterns in each of the examined contexts The differing impacts of co occurrence frequency are attributed to the distributional and semantic specifics of the analyzed morphosyntactic configurations Lexical frequency has been found to be another important determinant in this variation Other factors include recency or lexical priming in discourse in the case of prepositional phrases and phonological and structural similarities and differences in the inflectional systems of the contact languages in the case of plural marking
