S Dreaming And The Development Of Consciousness:

Children's Dreaming and the Development of Consciousness David Foulkes, 2009-07-01 David Foulkes is one of the international leaders in the empirical study of children's dreaming and a pioneer of sleep laboratory research with children. In this book which distills a lifetime of study Foulkes shows that dreaming as we normally understand it active stories in which the dreamer is an actor appears relatively late in childhood. This true dreaming begins between the ages of 7 and 9. He argues that this late development of dreaming suggests an equally late development of waking reflective self awareness. Foulkes offers a spirited defense of the independence of the psychological realm and the legitimacy of studying it without either psychoanalytic over interpretation or neurophysiological reductionism. The Oxford Companion to Consciousness Tim Bayne, Axel Cleeremans, Patrick Wilken, 2009 Consciousness is undoubtedly one of the last remaining scientific mysteries and hence one of the greatest contemporary scientific challenges. How does the brain's activity result in the rich phenomenology that characterizes our waking life? Are animals conscious? Why did consciousness evolve? How does science proceed to answer such questions? Can we define what consciousness is? Can we measure it? Can we use experimental results to further our understanding of disorders of consciousness such as those seen in schizophrenia, delirium or altered states of consciousness? These questions are at the heart of contemporary research in the domain. Answering them requires a fundamentally interdisciplinary approach that engages not only philosophers but also neuroscientists and psychologists in a joint effort to develop novel approaches that reflect both the stunning recent advances in imaging methods as well as the continuing refinement of our concepts of consciousness. In this light the Oxford Companion to Consciousness is the most complete authoritative survey of contemporary research on consciousness. Five years in the making and including over 250 concise entries written by leaders in the field the volume covers both fundamental knowledge as well as more recent advances in this rapidly changing domain. Structured as an easy to use dictionary and extensively cross referenced the Companion offers contributions from philosophy of mind to neuroscience from experimental psychology to clinical findings so reflecting the profoundly interdisciplinary nature of the domain. Particular care has been taken to ensure that each of the entries is accessible to the general reader and that the overall volume represents a comprehensive snapshot of the contemporary study of consciousness. The result is a unique compendium that will prove indispensable to anyone interested in consciousness from beginning students wishing to clarify a concept to professional consciousness researchers looking for the best characterization of a particular phenomenon. The Science and Art of Dreaming Mark Blagrove, Julia system The creation of the biologic framework of dreaming emotions associative memories and visual imagery is well within our technical capacity AI dreams potentially portend the further development of consciousness in these systems This focus on AI dreaming raises even larger questions In many ways dreaming defines our humanity What is humanly special about the states of dreaming And what are we losing when we limit our focus to its technical and biologic structure and extend the capacity for dreaming into our artificial creations Machine Dreaming and Consciousness provides thorough discussion of these issues for neuroscientists and other researchers investigating consciousness and cognition Addresses the function and role of dream like processing in AI systems Describes the functions of dreaming in the creative process of both humans and machines Presents an alternative approach to the philosophy of machine consciousness Provides thorough discussion of machine dreaming and consciousness for neuroscientists and other researchers investigating consciousness and cognition consciousness Kunzendorf's second chapter presents evidence that the most primitive sensation pain the subjective aspect of free nerve endings or nociceptors has a survival promoting function But as the pressure nociceptor mutates into a touch receptor the heat nociceptor into temperature receptor and the chemical nociceptor into a taste receptor the painful qualia of these nociceptors evolve respectively into touch sensation temperature sensation or taste sensation painless sensations that add no survival benefit to their receptor's physical aspect Building on evidence that retinal receptors embodying visual qualia evolved from primitive eyespots responsive to injurious heat at a distance or painful light the third chapter presents evidence that visually imagined sensations are the subjective qualities of retinal receptors that are corticofugally innervated in warm blooded animals for the developmental purpose of testing cortically hypothesized sensory motor rules that have greater survival value than cold blooded stimulus response associations The fourth and final chapter focuses on self conscious reality testing and on visuo spatial self conceptualization and presents evidence that such manifestations of self awareness evolve only in those warm blooded animals whose rule developing youth lasts two years or longer that is those mammals and birds whose survival during the imaginal testing of rules is subjected to prolonged risk if self consciousness that one is imaging sensations rather than perceiving sensations is absent
