Medical Humanities, Sociology and the Suffering Self Wendy Lowe, 2020-12-22 Following criticisms of the traditionally polarized view of understanding suffering through either medicine or social justice Lowe makes a compelling argument for how the medical humanities can help to go beyond the traditional biographical and epistemic breaks to see into the nature and properties of suffering and what is at stake Lowe demonstrates through analysis of major healthcare workforce issues and incidence of burnout how key policies and practices influence healthcare education and experiences of both patients and health professionals By including first person narratives from health professionals as a tool and resource she illustrates how dominant ideas about the self enter practice as a refusal of suffering Demonstrating the relationship between personal experience theory and research Lowe argues for a pedagogy of suffering that shows how the moral anguish implicit in suffering is an ethical response of the emergent self This is an important read for all those interested in medical humanities health professional education person centred care and the sociology of health and illness

Education Gary Thomas, 2021-09-23 Since the early Egyptians human beings have formalised the business of learning setting up a designated environment of some form to pass knowledge and learning on to groups of students In this second edition of his Very Short Introduction Gary Thomas explores how and why education has evolved as it has examining the ways in which it has responded over the centuries to various influences in politics philosophy and the social sciences Focussing on education today he considers especially the controversies over progressive versus formal teaching and also examines education worldwide assessing the accelerating trend on both sides of the Atlantic of the move to charter academy and free schools The COVID 19 pandemic has dramatically accelerated moves to online learning in schools and universities and in this new edition Thomas looks again at curriculums and what shape they should take in a rapidly changing world He asks why action on race gender and social inequality has borne so little fruit thus far questioning the oft made claim of education to be a force for social mobility and offering an analysis on how education may develop over the coming century Very Short Introductions Brilliant Sharp Inspiring ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Understanding and Shaping Curriculum

Thomas W. Hewitt,2006-02-13 Understanding and Shaping Curriculum What We Teach and Why introduces readers to curriculum as knowledge curriculum as work and curriculum as professional practice Author Thomas W Hewitt discusses curriculum from theoretical and practical perspectives to not only acquaint readers with the study of curriculum but also help them to become effective curriculum practitioners Gen Ed D. G. Mulcahy,2021-01-04 Gen Ed is a novel that locates serious discussion of general education in the context of some of the day to day realities encountered in putting it into practice and promoting efforts at reform at Metropolitan Atlantic University aka the Metro This dual focus is found in the often pugnacious policy debate among the faculty and a more light hearted discussion of related questions carried on by Professor Kelly as he models Socratic teaching in his upper level class for prospective teachers Reforming general education at the Metro is not free of the vanities and vulgarities of ambitious men and women and self serving politicians of course nor those who poke fun at them Arnie Smatter the irrepressible and nosey chat show host of Radio YOY ensures that this does not go unnoticed The overall humorous tone of Gen Ed does not detract from Mulcahy s thoughtful treatment of substantive issues that will be of interest to serious scholars students and a general readership It is the behaviour of those involved the broader media and political contexts in which events take place which mainly becomes the object of humorous treatment

Encyclopedia of Education: AACSB-Commerce James W. Guthrie,2003 Designs for Science Literacy American Association for the Advancement of Science,2001-03-22 The call for science curriculum reform has been made over and over again for much of the twentieth century Arguments have been made that the content of the curriculum is not appropriate for meeting the individual and social needs of people living in the modern world that the curriculum has become overstuffed with topics and does not serve students especially well and above all that the curriculum does not generate the student learning it is expected to produce The latest volume in a continuing series of publications from the AAAS designed to reform science education Designs for Science Literacy presupposes that curriculum reform must be considerably more extensive and fundamental than the tinkering with individual courses and subjects that has been going on for decades Designs deals with the critical issues involved in assembling sound instructional materials into a new coherent K 12 whole The book pays special attention to the need to link science oriented studies to the arts and humanities and also proposes how to align the curriculum with an established set of learning goals while preserving the American tradition of local responsibility for the curriculum itself If fundamental curriculum reform is ever to occur a new process for creating alternatives will have to be developed Designs for Science Literacy provides the groundwork for such a process Perspectives John H. Lounsbury,1989 College Entrance Requirements Laurence Elliott Tomlinson,1945 Using Data to Improve Student Learning Graham S. Maxwell,2021-04-21 This book offers a coherent research based overview and analysis of theories and practices in using data to improve student learning It clarifies what use of data means and differentiates the different levels of decision making in education relating to the system district school classroom or individual student The relationship between data and decision making is considered and various movements in the use of data to improve student learning are analysed especially from the perspective of their assumptions and effects This leads to a focus on effective educational decision making as a social process requiring collaboration among all relevant participants It also requires a clear understanding of educational aims and these are seen to transcend what can be assessed by standardised tests The consequences of this analysis for decision processes are explored and conclusions are drawn about what principles might best guide educational practice as well as what ambiguities remain Throughout the focus is on what existing research says about each of the issues explored
