dept. of pr. books,1884 Modern Chinese Parts of Speech Guo Rui,2019-03-04 What is the essence of a part of speech Why is it difficult to classify parts of speech What are the bases and criteria for classifying them How should they be classified In doing so how should a conversational word be dealt with How should nominalization be treated These are just some of the questions answered in this book The classification of parts of speech in Chinese is a tough job due to the language's lack of morphological differences Based on the analysis of nearly 40 000 Chinese characters this book proposes that essentially a part of speech is not of distributional type and that its intrinsic basis is an expressional function and the semantic type Essentially large categories such as substantive words predicate words and modification words are classes of words classified according to their expressional functions Basic categories such as nouns verbs and adjectives are classes that combine semantic types with syntactical functions In classifying parts of speech the book pays attention not to identifying a single distributive characteristic that is internally universal and externally exclusive but to clustering the grammatical functions that have the same classification value through the reflection representation relationship among distribution expressional function and semantic type distribution reflects expressional function and semantic type which are in turn represented as distribution thereby identifying the classification criteria It uses distributional compatibility and the correlation principle to analyze which distributional differences represent differences in parts of speech and which do not In this way grammatical functions that have equal classification values are collected into one equivalent function cluster each of which represents one part of speech The book uses four strategies to classify parts of speech namely the homogeneity strategy the homomorphical strategy the priority homomorphical strategy and the consolidation strategy It will be a valuable reference for Chinese linguistic researchers and students as well as Chinese learners Challenging Past and Present Ellen P. Conant,2006-02-28 The complex and coherent development of Japanese art during the course of the nineteenth century was inadvertently disrupted by a political event the Meiji Restoration of 1868 Scholars of both the preceding Edo 1615 1868 and the succeeding Meiji 1868 1912 eras have shunned the decades bordering this arbitrary divide thus creating an art historical void that the former view as a period of waning technical and creative inventiveness and the latter as one threatened by Meiji reforms and indiscriminate westernization and modernization Challenging Past and Present to the contrary demonstrates that the period 1840 1890 as seen progressively rather than retrospectively experienced a dramatic transformation in the visual arts which in turn made possible the creative achievements of the twentieth century The first group of chapters takes as its theme the diverse cultural currents of the transitional period particularly as they applied to art The second section deals with the inconsistent yet determinedly pragmatic courses pursued by artists entrepreneurs and patrons to achieve a secure footing in the uncertain terrain of early Meiji Further chapters look at how painters and sculptors sought to absorb and integrate foreign influences and reinterpret their own stylistic mediums Bulletin Östasiatiska museet,1977 Illustrated Catalogue of Books A.C.
