support groups have exploded in popularity as the public and the healthcare community recognize that they provide an effective complement to formal care and improve the chance that many participants will have better healthcare outcomes. Few peer support self help group leaders have more than minimal training in how to lead a group successfully. This is unfortunate as leading a self help group is often challenging. This pocket resource is designed to provide easy access to key information and strategies to help Peer Specialists and other lay group leaders develop and expand their group facilitation skills so they can lead healthy thriving peer support groups.

Mental Health Self-Help Louis D. Brown, Scott Wituk, 2010-08-05. Building on earlier patient empowerment movements, consumer and advocate driven mental health self help MSHS initiatives currently outnumber traditional mental health organizations. At the same time, this apparent success raises significant questions about their short term efficacy and their value to lasting recovery. Mental Health Self Help assembles the state of the evidence on the effectiveness of MSHS, beginning with the individual and larger social factors behind the expansion of consumer directed services. Clearly organized and accessibly written, the book traces the development and evolution of MSHS as both alternative and adjunct to traditional mental health structures, offers research based perspectives on the various forms of MSHS, and identifies potential areas for consumer initiatives to work with and help improve mental health systems. Contributors weigh strengths and limitations, raise research and methodology questions, and discuss funding and training issues to give readers a deeper understanding of the field and an informed look at its future impact on mental health treatment. Individual chapters cover the spectrum of contemporary self help initiatives in mental health, including Online mutual aid groups, Consumer run drop in centers, Family and caregiver groups, Certified peer support specialists, Consumer advocacy initiatives, Technical assistance organizations, Professional self help collaborations. Mental Health Self Help is a bedrock guide to an increasingly influential aspect of the mental health landscape. Researchers studying these initiatives from a variety of fields, including community and clinical psychology and public health, as well as clinicians, counselors, social workers, case managers, and policymakers will find it an indispensable reference.

Working with Older Adults: Group Process and Technique Barbara Haight, Faith Gibson, 2005-03-30. Beginning with an overview of the changing world of aging, this book goes on to address practical principles and guidelines for group work.

Helping People to Help Themselves Leonard D. Borman, 1982. A useful book in which the authors describe and advocate self help and mutual aid groups in the field of human services. Topics include support groups for bereaved parents, sexually abusive families, women who have undergone Caesarean childbirth, and former mental patients.
