The Sum of No Equation Sabine Freyling, 2008 Starting with the social and psychological side of the person Naipaul one can summarise some reasonably simple discoveries that can be extracted from both his autobiographical pieces and his seemingly fictional books published within a period of more than fifty years Naipaul suggested that the way to approach the author is not through finding out as much as possible about the man and one could easily argue that the idea shall simply be used in conversion One can learn more about the person when taking into account all that has been produced by the author who is part of the person By this means one can extract valuable information about both person and author and thus can easily uncover some mysteries that have been established by the author person to conceal the reality behind a fixed idea that has always played a significant role in Naipaul's life Having studied English Naipaul was aware of all the tools available and of the aims of literary critics and seems to have challenged these established routes for his own sake and to serve his purpose

John William Carleton, 1865 Englishness and Post-imperial Space Milton Sarkar, 2016-02-08 Englishness and Post imperial Space The Poetry of Philip Larkin and Ted Hughes probes into the English mindset immediately after the British withdrawal from the colonies and examines how the loss of power and global prestige affected contemporary poetry particularly that of Philip Larkin and Ted Hughes Frustration and disillusionment even anger characterised the era and many of the literary works the period produced Most writers became insular and were obsessed with the English elements in their writing The great international and cosmopolitan themes of Eliot for instance were replaced by those of narrow domestic importance It is in such a context this book argues that Larkin and Hughes returned to the old England most notably to the themes of gradually vanishing pristine landscape and national myths and legends to the archetypal English customs and conventions It examines their poetry mainly from the perspective of Englishness a burgeoning area of academic interest Intricately connected with the values emanating from England as a geographical and socio cultural space Englishness as a concept is intrinsic to the identity of a people who gradually became globally powerful The loss of empire dealt a severe blow to this sense of the self This book explores the dynamics of the representation of this sense of loss and the frustration it produced in the poems of Larkin and Hughes Calcutta Review, 1874 Florists' Review, 1909 Secular Review, 1886 The Calcutta Review, 1848 A Review of Men and Manners in America Andrews Norton, 1834 *The V.R.I.
