Man Living On A Side Creek And Other Poems:

Iron Fever & Other Poems Stephan Torre, 2003 After early years growing up in Montana and Wisconsin Stephan Torre spent his teen years in Monterey California After college in Berkeley and San Francisco he lived on the Big Sur and Mendocino coasts working as a wood butcher building houses and salvaging redwood logs Torre later went north to settle on a remote homestead in the Canadian Rockies with his wife and two daughters scratching a living from livestock and sawmills Eventually he moved south to Point Reyes California then to the Great Basin high desert where he now lives on a small ranch at the base of the Warner Mountains Given his priority for living in raw and untamed country Torre's poems are seldom without reference to wild landscape He resists however being called a nature poet since he frequently deals with traditional rural male work gender privilege art and the tensions inherent in people's rapacious claims of land ownership The Alphabet of Desire Barbara Hamby, 1999-05 In this book of poetry Barbara Hamby races through the circuitous regions of heaven and hell desire and love trailing words ahead of and behind her giving shape and significance to the strange and the familiar Not limited to the self referential Hamby playfully references historic and literary personae taking stabs at Shakespeare Jane Austen the Bible and Casanova
