Man Who Was Little Leather Library:

Little Leather Library: The man without a country, The Judge, 1924 The International Interpreter, 1922 The Independent William Livingston, 1921 A Feeling for Books Janice A. Radway, 2000-11-09 Deftly melding ethnography cultural history literary criticism and autobiographical reflection A Feeling for Books is at once an engaging study of the Book of the Month Club's influential role as a cultural institution and a profoundly personal meditation about the experience of reading Janice Radway traces the history of the famous mail order book club from its controversial founding in 1926 through its evolution into an enterprise uniquely successful in blending commerce and culture Framing her historical narrative with writing of a more personal sort Radway reflects on the contemporary role of the Book of the Month Club in American cultural history and in her own life Her detailed account of the standards and practices employed by the club's in-house editors is also an absorbing story of her interactions with those editors Examining her experiences as a fourteen-year-old reader of the club's selections and later as a professor of literature she offers a series of rigorously analytical yet deeply personal readings of such beloved novels as Marjorie Morningstar and To Kill a Mockingbird Rich and rewarding this book will captivate and delight anyone who is interested in the history of books and in the personal and transformative experience of reading Time Briton Hadden, Henry Robinson Luce, 1924 Reels for 1973 include Time index 1973 Re-Covering

Modernism David M Earle, 2016-03-03 In the first half of the twentieth century modernist works appeared not only in obscure little magazines and books published by tiny exclusive presses but also in literary reprint magazines of the 1920s tawdry pulp magazines of the 1930s and lurid paperbacks of the 1940s In his nuanced exploration of the publishing and marketing of modernist works David M Earle questions how and why modernist literature came to be viewed as the exclusive purview of a cultural elite given its availability in such popular forums As he examines sensational and popular manifestations of modernism as well as their reception by critics and readers Earle provides a methodology for reconciling formerly separate or contradictory materialist cultural visual and modernist approaches to avant-garde literature Central to Earle's innovative approach is his consideration of the physical aspects of the books and magazines covers dust wrappers illustrations cost which become texts in their own right Richly illustrated and accessibly written Earle's study shows that modernism emerged in a publishing ecosystem that was both richer and more complex than has been previously documented
