

Medium- and low-level radioactive waste management

Most radioactive waste generated in Spain is low and medium level. It is produced in hospitals, research centers, industries and nuclear power plants. This waste is placed in definitive storage in El Cabril (Cordoba), a world reference.

This storage facility also handles very low level waste that, due to its low radioactivity, faces less requirements and is stored in other specific structures.

Management Of Low Level Radioactive Waste:

Improving the Regulation and Management of Low-Activity Radioactive Wastes National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Radioactive Waste Management, Committee on Improving Practices for Regulating and Managing Low-Activity Radioactive Wastes, 2003-10-14 Low activity radioactive wastes include a broad spectrum of materials for which a regulatory patchwork has evolved over almost 60 years. These wastes present less of a radiation hazard than either spent nuclear fuel or high level radioactive waste. Low activity wastes however may produce potential radiation exposure at well above background levels and if not properly controlled may represent a significant chronic and in some cases an acute hazard. For some low activity wastes the present system of controls may be overly restrictive but it may result in the neglect of others that pose an equal or higher risk. The purpose of this interim report is to provide an overview of current low activity waste regulations and management practices. Improving the Regulation and Management of Low Activity Radioactive Wastes Interim Report on Current Regulations Inventories and Practices identifies gaps and inconsistencies that suggest areas for improvements. The final report will assess options for improving the current practices and provide recommendations.

Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management and Disposition National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Nuclear and Radiation Studies Board, Planning Committee on Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management and Disposition: A Workshop, 2017-06-05 The Department of Energy's Office of Environmental Management DOE is responsible for the safe cleanup of sites used for nuclear weapons development and government sponsored nuclear energy research. Low level radioactive waste LLW is the most volumetrically significant waste stream generated by the DOE cleanup program. LLW is also generated through commercial activities such as nuclear power plant operations and medical treatments. The laws and regulations related to the disposal of LLW in the United States have evolved over time and across agencies and states resulting in a complex regulatory structure. DOE asked the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine to organize a workshop to discuss approaches for the management and disposition of LLW. Participants explored the key physical chemical and radiological characteristics of low level waste that govern its safe and secure management and disposal in aggregate and in individual waste streams and how key characteristics of low level waste are incorporated into standards orders and regulations that govern the management and disposal of LLW in the United States and in other major waste producing countries. This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop.

The Impact of Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management Policy on Biomedical Research in the United States National Research Council, Commission on Life Sciences, Board on Radiation Effects Research, Committee on the Impact of Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management Policy on Biomedical Research in the United States, 2001-02-09 The National Research Council's Committee on the Impact of Low Level Radioactive Waste Management Policy on Biomedical Research in the United States was called on to assess the effects of the low level radioactive waste management policy on the current and future activities of biomedical research This report provides an assessment of the effects of the current management policy for low level radioactive waste LLRW and resulting consequences such as higher LLRW disposal costs and onsite storage of LLRW on the current and future activities of biomedical research That assessment will include evaluating the effects that the lack of facilities and disposal capacity and rules of disposal facilities have on institutions conducting medical and biological research and on hospitals where radioisotopes are used for the diagnosis and treatment of disease
