Management Science Larry M. Austin, James R. Burns, 1985 Aid for Managerial Decision Making Larry M. Austin, 1985 American Book Publishing Record, 2002 Human Resources Information Systems Nicolas A. Valcik, Meghna Sabharwal, Teodoro J. Benavides, 2021-07-09 This book provides an introduction to Human Resource Information Systems HRIS for those in the public administration field At the intersection between human resource management and information technology HRIS is often the key to having and maintaining the personnel data that is essential for hiring and recruitment strategic planning and analysis and legal requirements in most public organizations This book describes what an HRIS system is what the functionality of such a system should be and outlines the practical aspects of an HRIS It also compares the different aspects of human resources in public organizations non profit organizations and private corporations and how differences across organizations may influence the functionality requirements of the HRIS Finally the volume contains both an organizational theory component which frames how an HRIS interacts with an organization both from a functional standpoint and a reporting standpoint The book includes a practical component which includes real world case studies that illustrate the advantages and pitfalls to implementing an HRIS enterprise system Providing a thorough introduction to HRIS for both academics and practitioners this volume is appropriate for researchers graduate students and practitioners in the fields of public administration higher education administration information systems computer science and human resources The Cumulative Book Index, 1986 A world list of books in the English language Instructor's Manual to Accompany Management Science Larry M. Austin, James R. Burns, 1985 Disaggregation L.P. Ritzman, M. Tvrdý, 2013-03-09 This volume is intended to expand the dialogue and interest among both practitioners and academicians in a problem area worthy of attention by all The concept of disaggregation admits to our current inability to solve many types of interrelated hierarchical problems simultaneously It offers instead a sequential iterative process as a workable and necessary procedure The papers in this volume are selected from those presented at a Disaggregation Conference held in March 1977 at The Ohio State University We heartily applaud all those who participated in the conference and particularly appreciate the cooperation of those authors whose work is published in this collection Part A contains four papers which define the various dimensions of disaggregation The paper by Martin Starr which was the text of his luncheon address at the conference provides several interesting perspectives to the problem Although disaggregation suggests tearing apart as Professor Starr illustrates with his butterfly example it also suggests a putting together or a synthesis which recognizes interrelationships and dependencies The next paper by Lee Kra jewski and Larry Ritzman offers a general model of disaggregation for both the manufacturing and service sectors After reading the papers in this section as well as the papers in subsequent sections you will identify other dimensions to hierarchical decision making which go beyond this generalized model Proceedings American Institute for Decision Sciences.
