

Managing Hypertension

4 Measuring Blood Pressure in Clinic

Tips for healthcare professionals:

Take ≥ 3 readings/visit every 4 weeks after starting or changing a drug

Once stable, recheck blood pressure every 6 months and ask about side effects

Educate patients on proper home blood pressure monitoring if:

Clinic readings are different from home readings

An antihypertensive drug has been started, changed, or stopped

Monitoring for Side Effects

Thiazide-like diuretics, ACE-inhibitors, ARBs:

Check electrolytes and serum creatinine at baseline, 1 week after starting, and 1 week after a dose increase

Drug Class	Side effects that may require a change in dose	Side effects that may require a change in drug
Thiazide-like diuretics	• Symptomatic hypotension	• Recurrent gout attacks, hyponatremia
ACE-inhibitors, ARBs	• Symptomatic hypotension	• Hyperkalemia >5.6 mmol/L or increase in SCr $>30\%$ from baseline, angioedema • Dry cough (switch from ACE-inhibitor to ARB)
Calcium channel blockers	• Symptomatic hypotension, ankle edema, headache	• If side effects are not tolerated by patient
Beta-blockers	• Exercise intolerance, symptomatic bradycardia	• If side effects are not tolerated by patient, advanced heart block (i.e. 2nd degree or greater)

5 Special Situations

Resistant Hypertension

def. Patient meets the following criteria:

- Blood pressure above goal;
- Taking at least 3 antihypertensive drug classes (i.e., diuretic, CCB, ACE-inhibitor/ARB);
- Drugs are at maximally tolerated doses;
- Patient is adherent.

Preferred treatment:

More effective to add spironolactone than a beta-blocker or an alpha-blocker for patients with resistant hypertension. Monitor for hyperkalemia. (PATHWAY-2 2016)

When to Refer to Hospital

If BP is markedly elevated, refer to hospital if any of these occur:

- Nausea, vomiting, confusion
- Sudden shortness of breath, heavy chest pain
- Sharp, tearing chest and back pain

Hypertensive emergencies occur when patients have markedly elevated blood pressure that causes acute target organ damage (kidney, heart, brain).

Pharmacology of Antihypertensive Therapeutics Detlev Ganten,Patrick J. Mulrow,2012-12-06 The previous volume on Antihypertensive Agents in the Handbook of Experimental Pharmacology published in 1977 was edited by the late Franz Gross from the Department of Pharmacology in Heidelberg who was one of the grand old men in hypertension research Now more than 10 years later it is necessary to update this volume From the early days of antihypertensive drug treatment starting about 30 years ago with drugs such as reserpine and guanethidine the pharmacology of cardiovascular therapy has evolved into a highly sophisticated and effective therapeutic regimen The major breakthroughs in the 1960s were the introduction of diuretics and beta blockers Then in the 1980s came the calcium antagonists and converting enzyme inhibitors It can be anticipated that the next decade will see a further expansion and sophistication of blood pressure lowering drugs This book provides a state of the art discussion of chemical experimental and clinical pharmacological data as well as of practical experience with drugs which are presently being used or which are going to be introduced on the market in the near future The purpose of this volume is to provide a complete discussion of antihypertensive agents Each major class of antihypertensive drugs is treated exhaustively in a separate chapter fully referenced with chemical formulae and richly illustrated with figures and tables International authorities were asked to contribute in their respective fields of expertise
