Bielo, 2009-04-01 Evangelical Bible study groups are the most prolific type of small group in American society with more than 30 million Protestants gathering every week for this distinct purpose meeting in homes churches coffee shops restaurants and other public and private venues across the country What happens in these groups How do they help shape the contours of American Evangelical life While more public forms of political activism have captured popular and scholarly imaginations it is in group Bible study that Evangelicals reflect on the details of their faith Here they become self conscious religious subjects sharing the intimate details of life interrogating beliefs and practices and articulating their version of Christian identity and culture In Words upon the Word James S Bielo draws on over nineteen months of ethnographic work with five congregations to better understand why group Bible study matters so much to Evangelicals and for Evangelical culture Through a close analysis of participants discourse Bielo examines the defining themes of group life from textual interpretation to spiritual intimacy and the rehearsal of witnessing Bielo s approach allows these Evangelical groups to speak for themselves illustrating Bible study s uniqueness in Evangelical life as a site of open and critical dialogue Ultimately Bielo s ethnography sheds much needed light on the power of group Bible study for the ever evolving shape of American Evangelicalism The Handbook for Student Leadership Development Susan R. Costanza, 2009

The peer to peer P2P training approach involves small groups of people from similar social groupings who are not professional teachers helping each other to learn. The P2P approach has great potential for rapidly identifying emerging lessons learned and integrating them into wide reaching Army training. The present research identified the instructional principles and best practices for P2P from academia, industry, and the military, supporting effective P2P training, and incorporated them into a Soldier friendly facilitator's guide. A formative evaluation was conducted with Soldiers using the guide to prepare and conduct group discussions for a face to face group setting and a distributed group setting where Soldiers were linked via video teleconference. One group of Soldiers served as facilitators and used the facilitator's guide to prepare and lead discussions with other Soldiers who served as learners. Feedback on the guide was mostly positive, with Soldiers indicating that the guide provided an appropriate amount of information and a usable format and tools for structuring and fostering group discussions. Ongoing efforts to transition P2P methods into Army training are discussed.
