Brown,2003-09-12 In recent years the escalating costs of health care have caused managed care programs to shift the delivery of pediatric psychological services away from specialized medical centers and into primary care and school settings One result has been a radical expansion of school psychology into issues of clinical intervention health promotion and the assessment of psychotropic medications School psychologists are now expected to either deliver or more likely to provide consultation regarding a wide variety of pediatric psychological services Because this is a recent phenomenon very few school based psychologists or allied health practitioners school counselors and social workers have received training in pediatric psychology The mission of this book is to provide them with a comprehensive and authoritative guide to their newly acquired responsibilities in such areas as psychotherapy psychopharmacology health promotion and prevention of disease This book is appropriate for anyone concerned with issues of pediatric psychology in school settings school psychologists pediatric psychologists clinical child psychologists as well as pediatricians and child psychiatrists School Mental Health Services for Adolescents Judith R. Harrison,Brandon K. Schultz,Steven W. Evans,2017-06-21 Evidence based mental health services are lacking in many school systems but especially in secondary schools Adolescents who can benefit from school mental health services are those who experience disruptive behavior disorders anxiety depression alcohol drug use sexual or physical abuse chronic health problems crisis situations such as suicidal ideation or attempts natural disasters and exposure to community or family violence that can interfere with academic success Currently one half of students with emotional or behavioral disorders drop out of school prior to graduation pointing to the need to disseminate proven strategies that strengthen effective secondary school services School Mental Health Services for Adolescents includes a range of expert guidance on implementation of school mental health services in secondary schools The significance of this information cannot be overstated as only 20% of children and adolescents who need such services receive them Schools are a logical venue for service provision because emotional and behavioral problems interfere with academic achievement and a lack of access to mental health services is a major barrier to treatment for youth Authors discuss services that can be implemented by school

based professionals and methods of overcoming implementation barriers Chapters cover the history and need for services issues of identification and referral for treatment in schools descriptions of evidence based interventions proposed service delivery models assessment strategies and integration of mental health programs in schools This book will be a valuable resource for researchers trainers of school mental health professionals school administrators and supervisors and school based mental health providers including psychologists counselors and social workers
