Managing Command And Control In The Persian Gulf War:

Managing Command and Control in the Persian Gulf War Thomas C. Hone, Mark D. Mandeles, Sanford S. Terry, 1996-09-24 During Desert Shield the Air Force built a very complicated organizational architecture to control large numbers of air sorties During the air campaign itself officers at each level of the Central Command Air Forces believed they were managing the chaos of war Yet when the activities of the many significant participants are pieced together it appears that neither the planners nor Lt Gen Charles A Horner the Joint Force Air Component Commander knew the details of what was happening in the air campaign or how well the campaign was going There was little appreciation of the implications of complex organizational architectures for military command and control Against a smarter and more aggressive foe the system may well have failed Coalition Air Warfare in the Korean War, 1950-1953 Air Force Historical Foundation. Symposium, 2005 In commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Korean War the official history offices of the U S Army Navy Marine Corps and Air Force and their respective historical associations collaborated to sponsor as comprehensive a symposium as possible including as participants some of the coalition partners who contributed forces and weapons to the war The intent of this symposium titled Coalition Air Warfare during the Korean War 1950 1953 was to focus not only on the contributions made by the armed forces of the United States but also on those of America s allies The diverse group of panelists and speakers included not only scholars with subject matter expertise but also veteran soldiers sailors and airmen who had served in that conflict It was hoped that the melding of these diverse perspectives would provide interesting if sometimes conflicting views about the Korean War The symposium organizers designated an agenda of six specific panels for investigation including Planning and Operations Air Superiority Air Support of Ground Forces Air Interdiction and Bombardment Air Reconnaissance and Intelligence and Logistical Support of Air Operations Each session began with commentary by the panel chairman which was followed by formal papers and in some instances included a lively question and answer session The papers and most of the proceedings found their way into print and are recorded here in an effort to permanently capture the activities challenges contributions and heroics of the coalition air forces and the airmen who fought during the Korean conflict The War Lawyers Craig Jones, 2020-11-26 Over the last 20 years the world s most advanced militaries have invited a small number of military legal professionals into the heart of their targeting operations spaces which had previously been exclusively for generals and commanders These professionals trained and hired to give legal advice on an array of military operations have become known as war lawyers The War Lawyers examines the laws of war as applied by military lawyers to aerial targeting operations carried out by the US military in Iraq and Afghanistan and the Israel military in Gaza Drawing on interviews with military lawyers and others this book explains why some lawyers became integrated in the chain of command whereby military targets are identified and attacked whether by manned aircraft drones and or ground forces and with what results This book shows just how important law and military lawyers have become in the conduct of contemporary warfare and how it is understood Jones argues that circulations of law and policy between the US and Israel have bolstered targeting practices considered legally questionable contending that the involvement of war lawyers in targeting operations enables legitimises and sometimes even extends military violence Strategic Air Power in Desert Storm John Andreas Olsen,2013-11-05 In response to the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait on the second of August 1990 a small group of air power advocates in the Pentagon proposed a strategic air campaign Operation Desert Storm designed to drive the Iraqi army from Kuwait by a sustained effort against the major sources of Iraqi national power John Andreas Olsen provides a coherent and comprehensive examination of the origins evolution and implementation of this campaign His findings derive from official military and political documentation interviews with United States Air Force officers who were closely involved with the planning of the campaign and Iraqis with detailed knowledge and experience of the inner workings of the Iraqi regime Times of the Technoculture Kevin Robins, Frank Webster,2003-09-02 Times of the Technoculture explores the social and cultural impact of new technologies tracing the origins of the information society from the coming of the machine with the industrial revolution to the development of mass production techniques in the early twentieth century The authors look at how the military has controlled the development of the information society and consider the centrality of education in government attempts to create a knowledge society Engaging in contemporary debates surrounding the internet Robins and Webster question whether it can really offer us a new world of virtual communities and suggest more radical alternatives to the corporate agenda of contemporary technologies Waging War Patricia A. Weitsman,2013-12-18 Military alliances provide constraints and opportunities for states seeking to advance their interests around the globe War from the Western perspective is not a solitary endeavor Partnerships of all types serve as a foundation for the projection of power and the employment of force These relationships among states provide the foundation upon which hegemony is built Waging War argues that these institutions of interstate violence not just the technology capability and level of professionalism and training of armed forces serve as ready mechanisms to employ force However these institutions are not always well designed and do not always augment fighting effectiveness as they could They sometimes serve as drags on state capacity At the same time the net benefit of having this web of partnerships agreements and alliances is remarkable It makes rapid response to crisis possible and facilitates countering threats wherever they emerge This book lays out which institutional arrangements lubricate states abilities to advance their agendas and prevail in wartime and which components of institutional arrangements undermine effectiveness and cohesion and increase costs to states Patricia Weitsman outlines what she calls a realist institutional agenda one that understands institutions as conduits of capability She demonstrates and tests the argument in five empirical chapters examining the cases of the first Gulf War Kosovo Afghanistan Iraq and Libya Each case has distinct lessons as well as important generalizations for contemporary multilateral warfighting Coalition Management and Escalation Control in a Multinuclear World Jacquelyn Davis, Robert Pfaltzgraff,2020-10-15 Coalition Management and Escalation Control in a Multinuclear World examines the impact of new technologies on twenty first century crisis management and armed conflict as well as the unprecedented number and types of actors involved in current and potential flash points The book s basic thesis is that new technologies are changing how wars are fought and providing a broadening range of escalation options Cyber weapons and artificial intelligence as well as social media blur traditional escalation thresholds with important consequences for deterrence Nuclear weapons possessors especially nations and powers new to their use may have differing strategies concerning how when why or where such weapons should be used either for purposes of deterrence or as actual warfighting instruments Today s global map differs drastically from all previous eras not only in the types and numbers of actors but also in the level of lethality as well as the range and accuracy of weapons available with which to threaten or actually conduct battle A world of Great Power competition together with non state armed groups contains risks for miscalculation including the possibility of catalytic warfare

Leadership and Management in the Information Age The Emirates Center for Strategic Studies and Research,2001-04-26 The book Leadership and Management in the Information Age represents a collection of papers by leading thinkers and pioneers in the fields of leadership and management These papers contain the substance of the ECSSR s Sixth Annual Conference held in Abu Dhabi November 5 7 2000 This volume contains dynamic thinking on the topics of successful leadership management of organizational change in the public and private sectors transformation in human resources effective management of genetic engineering and biotechnology advancements the future of the national economy and the nature of defense and national security in a changed global environment Thus a key aspect of the world economy as shaped by the Information Revolution and the forces of Globalization is the role of leaders and managers as motivators planners and administrators The traditional roles are at variance with new global dynamics More and more leaders and finding themselves having to take decisions in a rapidly changing environment characterized by vast flows of information and highly competitive markets They are also being called upon to transform the human resources at their disposal and to make full use of individual capacity in their organizations

Joint Military Operations United States. General Accounting Office,1993 Human Factors in Simulation and Training Peter A. Hancock,Dennis A. Vincenzi,John A. Wise,Mustapha Mouloua,2008-12-17 Discussing issues and concepts relating to human factors in simulation this book covers theory and application in fields such as space ships submarines naval aviation and commercial aviation The authors develop and expand on concepts in simulator usage particularly specific characteristics and issues of simulation and their effect on the validity and functionality of simulators as a training device The chapters contain in depth discussions of these particular characteristics and issues They also incorporate theories pertaining to the motivational aspects of training simulation of social events and PC based simulation Desert Storm at Sea Marvin

Pokrant, 1999-07-30 Desert Storm was the largest naval operation since World War II Although naval forces did not play the central role they fulfilled an important function throughout the operation facing many formidable challenges and considerable risk This book provides a close examination of the problems encountered by the Navy both in the military situation and in dealing with the other services and the decisions made to address these issues While interservice rivalries sometimes intruded at higher levels jointness at the tactical level often led to effective combined arms operations Despite the information revolution and improvements in technology the Fog of War still obscured the battlefield and affected nearly all decisions This study offers page turning action such as SEAL activity and combat search and rescue missions as well as the exciting and dangerous surface operations that gained sea control of the northern Persian Gulf Using primary sources such as interviews and many documents cleared only recently for public release the author covers the relations between General Schwarzkopf and Vice Admirals Mauz and Arthur the major contribution of Tomahawk cruise missiles to the first wave of attacks on Baghdad the controversial use of aircraft carriers in the Gulf as well as the Navy s possible role in the event of an amphibious assault into Kuwait Those preparing to fight in future naval actions will learn much from this detailed analysis
