Marriage And Modernization:

Marriage and Modernization Don S. Browning, 2003-03-20 The processes of modernization and globalization promise more wealth and health for many people But they are also a threat to the stability and quality of marriage and family life This new book at once sobering and constructive looks at the impact of these processes on marriage and asks what Christianity in cooperation with other religions can do to strengthen married life today Among the deleterious effects of modernization and globalization on marriage are a worldwide drift of men away from the responsibility of parenthood and the tendency of mothers too readily to take on the task of childrearing alone After looking at recent research on these and other problems Don Browning suggests that the cure for modern marital disruption entails reforming and reconstructing the institution of marriage while also nurturing relevant forms of social support Yet the effort to initiate a world marriage revival requires a complex cultural work and Browning explores the key contributions that the religions of the world must make for such an effort to be successful

Some Aspects of the Modernization of Marriage Marilyn Ann Sperling, 1976 The Equal-Regard Family and Its Friendly Critics John Witte, M. Christian Green, Amy Wheeler, 2007-10-17 This volume is both a celebration and an evaluation of the work on sex marriage and family life by Don S Browning the dean of modern family studies in theological ethics and practical theology Scholars probe a number of Browning's contributions particularly his call for an ethic of equal regard within the household and wider society This book is a true interdisciplinary effort with insights from psychology history law theology biology ethics feminist theology childhood studies and education theory The Equal Regard Family and Its Friendly Critics includes seven honorary forewords ten original essays and a concluding essay by Don Browning himself Contributors Herbert Anderson Carol Browning Don S Browning Lisa Sowle Cahill M Christian Green Timothy P Jackson Martin E Marty Rebekah Miles Bonnie J Miller McLemore Richard Robert Osmer Garrett E Paul Stephen J Pope David Popenoe Stephen M Tipton Mary Stewart Van Leeuwen Linda J Waite John Wall Amy Wheeler Barbara Dafoe Whitehead John Witte Jr

Modernization of Marriage, 1913 Globalization and the Mission of the Church Neil J. Ormerod, Shane Clifton, 2011-10-27 Various social political economic and cultural commentators are presently arguing that human history is reaching a decisive stage in its development a stage marked by increased interconnection between peoples the compression of space and time a sharing of ideas at unprecedented levels global trade and finance and so on The shorthand word used to encompass these phenomena is globalization Some embrace it others reject it while still others dispute its existence But with the abundance of literature and debate that it generates the topic cannot be ignored From its inception in the missionary mandate of Jesus Matthew 28 Christianity has had a global dimension to its mission Christianity is not a spectator to globalization but one of its agents one of the forces at work which have extended interconnection between peoples shared ideas and promoted social political and cultural links The purpose of the present work is not to provide a complete response to the question of the mission of the church in a globalizing world but to establish a framework within which answers may be sought Grounded in the writings of Bernard Lonergan and Robert Doran it develops a theology of history and addresses the churches response to the impact of globalization on vital social cultural personal and religious values The project brings together the perspectives of Catholicism and Pentecostalism the former providing a depth of wisdom and tradition the latter drawing on the insight of a newly emerging movement that has taken root in every continent with remarkable energy and enthusiasm

Equality and the Family Don S. Browning,2007 In Equality and the Family Don Browning pulls together essays he has published in the past in order to shed light on the path we should take in the future He contends that practical theology can be envisioned as a practical research program and he uses the very concrete example of the family to illustrate how this works Though it may sound unlikely that equality in the family can be based on Christian ideas Browning insists that it can and that it should His desire is to be pro family and pro marriage in ways that create justice and equality within the family Based on this goal he argues for the church s ideal model of the mother father partnership to be balanced with an understanding and acceptance of the pluralism of family forms as a part of modern life including church life A brief introduction of each essay is included to help the reader understand the original context of the piece

New Zealand Experiencing Globalization Derrick M. Nault, Bei Dawei, Evangelos Voulgarakis, Rab Paterson, Cesar Andres-Miguel Suva, 2013-02-01 Today in an age of globalization religion represents a potent force in the lives of billions of people worldwide Yet when social theorists examine the impact of globalization on contemporary religious movements they tend to focus on issues such as Islamic fundamentalism and threats to US or global security This collection of essays takes a different approach analyzing with special reference to Asia religion through lived experience The key issues covered in the volume include how religious impulses contribute to globalization how religious groups and organizations repackage traditional beliefs for transcultural appeal how religious adherents cope with external threats to identity how new technologies are reshaping the nature of religious beliefs and images and how local and global religious influences blend and or clash Far from religion being a subject of peripheral concern to globalization the contributors demonstrate that from the most basic level of our interactions with the natural environment to the socio political behavior of the great religions and even to the profusion of folk and pop culture phenomena the influence of religion upon globalization and vice versa is apparent at all levels Chinese Marriages in Transition Xiaoling Shu, Jingjing Chen, 2023-09-15 Outdated models of Chinese gender roles marriage and family transitions portray these changes as streamlined and unidirectional from traditional to modern public to private collective to individual Chinese Marriages in Transition documents the complex nuanced and multidirectional nature of these cultural transformations Using complex and large scale historical national data as well as comprehensive data from multiple countries Xiaoling Shu and Jingjing Chen demonstrate that while the second demographic transition is unfolding in many advanced Western societies it is not necessarily a normative form of societal transition Working instead from a framework of new familism Shu and Chen show that Chinese new familism consists of both old and new values including the persistence of some traditional beliefs and practices accompanied by a transition to modern perceptions of gender and adaption to some modern forms of family formation This book is freely available in an open access edition thanks to TOME Toward an Open Monograph Ecosystem a collaboration of the Association of American Universities the Association of University Presses and the Association of Research Libraries and the generous support of the University of California Davis Learn more at the TOME website available at openmonographs.org Download the open access book here

Aging and Adult Development in the Developing World Frank E. Eyetsemitan, James T. Gire, 2003-02-28 Most studies of human development in developing societies have focused on the childhood stage and in a few cases exploration has extended up to adolescence since this age group represents about half the population in developing societies The developed world however is experiencing a surge in the elderly population and this has spurred its study There is growing recognition that studies are needed in order to understand aging in all contexts and to discover how the experience may differ in developing and developed societies In this book the authors discuss the appropriateness or inappropriateness of applying Western theories and perspectives to studies of aging in the developing world The present study critically examines the major theories in the area of aging and adult development covering such domains as the physical psychological and social aspects of aging death and dying and social and public policies Applying the concepts of individualism and collectivism as well as the global and environmental dimensions of the developing world the authors have earmarked the theories that seem suitable only to the developed world and those that appear to be universally relevant Arranged Marriage Péter Berta,2023-03-17 Arranged Marriage shows how arranged marriage practices have been undergoing transformation how the gendered and intergenerational politics of agency consent and choice work in the contexts of partner choice and management of marriage and how this type of marriage can be reshaped reinvented and reinterpreted flexibly in response to individual family religious class ethnic and other desires needs and constraints Anthropology in Public Health Mithun Das,Subir Biswas,2019-01-01 Looking backward over the last few decades it is impressive to see how far anthropological approaches to public health have come up not just on communicable disease research and prevention but also for non communicable diseases like cardiovascular diseases diabetes cancer female reproductive health mental illness substance consumption and abuse and health practices Yet when countries with established economy are compared with low economy countries there seem to be a radical difference Anthropologists with their extensive field work and vast well grounded theoretical knowledge plays a significant role in public health arena One of the most attractive features of this book is that the editors have asked the authors to layout the specific methods of their research projects and programmes so that the reader can come to a sense of where this field is going We envision the audience of this book to comprise a broad spectrum of those involved in anthropology public health and epidemiology The readers will find this book presenting a familiar public health milieu in a different and fascinating context Individuals who are just beginners in these fields will find these chapters foundational in careers The Fertility Transition in Iran Mohammad Jalal Abbasi-Shavazi,Peter McDonald,Meimanat Hosseini-Chavoshi,2009-09-30 Confounding all conventional wisdom the fertility rate in the Islamic Republic of Iran fell from around 7 0 births per woman in the early 1980s to 1 9 births per woman in 2006 That this the largest and fastest fall in fertility ever recorded should have occurred in one of the world s few Islamic Republics demands explanation This book based upon a decade of research is the first to attempt such an explanation The book documents the progress of the fertility decline and displays its association with social and economic characteristics It addresses an explanation of the phenomenal fall of fertility in this Islamic context by considering the relevance of standard theories of fertility transition The book is rich in data as well as the application of different demographic methods to interpret the data All the available national demographic data are used in addition to two major surveys conducted by the authors Demographic description is preceded by a socio political history of Iran in recent decades providing a context for the demographic changes The authors conclude with their views on the importance of specific socio economic and political changes to the demographic transition Their concluding arguments suggest continued low fertility in Iran The book is recommended to not only demographers social scientists and gender specialists but also to policy makers and those who are interested in social and demographic changes in Iran and other Islamic countries in the Middle East It is also a useful reference for demography students and researchers who are interested in applying fertility theories in designing surveys and analysing data
