Poetic Injustice Jackson S. Whitman, 2002-04 Various works of poetry about life in the wilds of Alaska seen through the eyes of one who lives there and partakes of what the wilderness has to offer Wild Life Tackson Whitman, 2021-08-09 This book is a compendium of short stories and excerpts of personal journal entries from the life of Jack Whitman a wildlife biologist who spent fifty years in some of the wildest places that remain on this earth It is about his love of those places and the wild inhabitants with which he shared those lands It is about a deep devotion towards understanding the ecology of predators and their prey and with that knowledge greater respect and better management of those natural resources It is about his gratitude for living modestly and pushing life to the limits It will make you laugh It will make you cry Fishin' Jackson S. Whitman, 2025-08-05 This is a compendium of short stories most shared from the author's youth and some that stem from his life of adventure and exploration of the natural world They all have to do in some way with fishing It is about a piece of Americana that has ceased to exist in modern times waters lost fishing lost and parts of the natural world and life that have been lost forever mostly to simple greed You Must Revise Your Life William Stafford, 1986 Included in the book are a selection of Stafford's poetry on the subject of writing and an essay on the origins and influences of his art Rough Notes ,1898 A journal devoted to insurance and the industries Aboriginal Voices, 1999 Page 4 of cover

Bill Burrows, 2018-12-07 Anyone who has spent any time in the North Country either as a visitor or a resident has probably heard the name Robert Service This book is more or less an homage to this British Canadian poet and writer often referred to as The Bard of the Yukon His poignant and frequently humorous poems were mostly written during the great Yukon Gold Rush But they they are still performed to this day at tourist attractions all over Alaska and Northwest Canada His most famous works and the ones you will hear recited almost exclusively are The Spell of the Yukon The Shooting of Dan McGrew and my favorite The Cremation of Sam McGee I discovered my talent for writing poetry when I got married and began writing poems to my wife for her birthday Valentines Day and 40 anniversaries Most of them were fairly short But then recently on a whim I attempted what I call an epic story poem When I started writing I immediately thought of Robert Service's style especially the rhyming scheme he often employs in which he puts a double rhyme within the first and third lines of each stanza This style is colorfully on display in the opening of McGee There are strange things done neath the Midnight Sunby the men who moil for gold The Arctic trails have their secret tailsthat will make your blood run cold The Northern Lights have seen queer sights but the queerest they ever did see was the night on the marg of Lake LeBargewhen I cremated Sam McGee The result of the first foray into long form poetry was More than I Could Bear a tale of an unlikely relationship formed between a man and an Alaskan brown bear And the next thing I knew I had written enough poems for a book My other inspiration was wildlife artist Douglas Allen I first saw his amazing pen and ink illustrations at about age ten in a little known tome entitled The Complete Book of Hunting by Clyde Ormond I got my parents to buy me some guill art pens and a bottle of India ink and did my best to copy them with limited success Ironically years later one of his drawings of a brown bear was chosen to be featured on the license plate of our new home Alaska Now fifty years later I had the idea to give pen and ink another try and illustrate my book of poetry So this book is also an homage to Douglas Allen I hope you enjoy both my poems and my drawings at least enough that I will be encouraged to do more Poems on Alaska and Other Planets Thomas William, 2000-07-24 Thomas William is a practicing psychotherapist and a published author His previously published novel The Alaskan Saga of Thomas Churchill O Brien a social satire of life in contemporary Alaska reveals exposes his love of laughter and his concern and awareness of what is best referred to as the human condition So too are these traits and feelings evident in this volume of poetry sugar and spice a laugh and a tear Dr William is John Doe Mr Everyman and strives to exhibit again expose the feelings and fears seasoned with hope and humor of all of us who are temporarily confined or sentenced to this one life we all have to struggle with to see to its completion The poems herein adhere to no rigid standard of form Scholarship is not their aim They do hopefully flow freely with the poet s thoughts of the moment Too these poems follow no rigid psychological or philosophical intensity of sameness or pattern A statement of passionate belief a thought of the moment may be followed a few poems later by an equally intense contradiction again the thought of that moment Our attitudes and feelings are in a state of constant flux Dr William is sincerely convinced that all humans in one form or another have a touch of genius be it baking wondrous cakes and bread repairing broken down engines or dwelling on Einsteinian mathematics Consequently he also believes that he does not write his poetry but that it merely flows from an unknown source through him as thoughts for his poetic interpretation
