Praetorius Point:

Ways of Knowing in Early Modern Germany Gerhild Scholz Williams, 2017-09-29 Gerhild Scholz Williams's Ways of Knowing in Early Modern Germany Johannes Praetorius as a Witness to His Time reviews key discourses in eight of Praetorius's works. She introduces the modern reader to the kinds of subjects the intellectual and spiritual approaches to them and the genres that this educated and productive German scholar and polymath presented to his audience in the seventeenth century. By relating these individual works to a number of contemporaneous writings, Williams shows how Praetorius constructed a panorama in print in which wonders, the occult, the emerging scientific way of thinking, family and social mores are recurrent themes. Included in Praetorius's portrait of the mid-seventeenth century are discussions of Paracelsus's scientific theories and practice, early modern German theories on witchcraft and demonology and their applications in the seventeenth century. Furthermore, we read about the early modern beginnings of ethnography, anthropology and physical geography, gender theory, early modern and contemporary notions of intellectual property and competing and sometimes conflicting early modern scientific and theological explanations of natural anomalies. Moreover, throughout his work and certainly in those texts chosen for this study, Praetorius appears before us as an assiduous reporter of contemporary European and pan-European events and scientific discoveries, a critic of common superstitions, as much a believer in occult causes and signs and in God's communication with His people. In his writings, in his way of telling, he offers strategies by which to comprehend the political, social and intellectual uncertainties of his century and in so doing identifies ways to confront the diverse interpretive authorities and the varieties of structures of knowledge that interacted and conflicted with each other in the public arena of knowing.

Hitler quickly devised plans for the invasion of England, codenamed Operation Sea Lion. To lay the groundwork, a team of spies would be sent in advance to act as pathfinders for the incoming forces. Codenamed Operation Lena, this phase of the plan was considered a suicide mission by German military intelligence. They had only thirty days to

Arabic Linguistic Thought and Dialectology Aryeh Levin, 1998 The articles collected in this volume form a contribution to the study of Arabic linguistics Most of them deal with Arabic medieval grammatical thought and terminology and are based on the oldest grammatical treatises known to us especially Sibawayhi's al Kitab The study of these two topics is interrelated since the understanding of Arabic grammatical thought depends on the understanding of its terminology and vice versa During the nineteenth and the twentieth centuries some prominent scholars maintained that the linguistic data supplied by the early Arab grammarians are unreliable and as a result their grammatical rules do not accord with the linguistic reality of Old Arabic Professor Levin's studies concerning the history of Arabic language contribute to the refutation of this view showing that Sibawayhi's linguistic method was mainly descriptive and that the linguistic information furnished by him is authentic and reliable Professor Levin also shows that Sibawayhi's accurate description of Old Arabic is based primarily on the ordinary speech of certain Bedouin tribes who lived in Southern Iraq in the eighth century The linguistic data found in the Ketab indicate that these Bedouins still spoke Old Arabic dialects Aryeh Levin is Professor of Arabic at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem He is also the author of A Grammar of the Arabic Dialect of Jerusalem in Hebrew
