Looking Ahead Human Factors Challenges In A Changing World:

Looking Ahead Raymond S. Nickerson, 2021-12-16 This volume aims to review some of the recent developments and trends that seem especially relevant to any attempt to understand near term future possibilities to consider what a variety of knowledgeable people are saying about changes and developments that could occur and to relate the possibilities to needs and opportunities for human factors research Human factors in this case includes not only the implications of human capabilities and limitations for the design of equipment and machines intended for human use but also applied psychology in a more general sense In particular it is taken to involve social systems as well as physical ones the interaction of people with the environment as well as with machines the facilitation of communication between people as well as between people and computers and the design of policies and procedures as well as the design of equipment The author's intention is to focus on anticipated problems including opportunities as well as difficulties and ask how human factors research might contribute to solutions It is assumed that there are ways in which such research could be useful in addressing societal problems that the profession has not yet realized and that these are more likely to be recognized in the future if the community is actively seeking to identify them

Performance Under Stress James Szalma, Peter A Hancock, 2018-10-09 The world is a dangerous place and recent events have served to make it less safe There are many arenas of conflict and even combat across the world Such situations are the quintessential expression of stress you stand in imminent danger and live with the knowledge that you may be attacked injured or even killed at any moment How do people perform under these conditions How do they keep a heightened level of vigilance when nothing may happen in their immediate location for weeks or even months What happens when the bullets actually start flying How is it you distinguish friend from foe and each from innocent bystanders when in immediate peril of your life Can we design technology to help people make good decisions in these ultimately hazardous situations To what degree does your membership in a team act to dissipate these particular effects Can we generate sufficiently stressful field exercises to simulate these conditions and can we train and or select those most able to withstand such adverse conditions How will the next generation of servicemen deal with these inherent problems These are the sorts of questions that Performance Under Stress addresses This book is derived largely from a multiple year multiple university initiative MURI on stress and soldier performance on the modern electronic battlefield It involved leading researchers from many institutions who have brought their individual expertise to bear on these crucial contemporary concerns United by a common research framework these groups attacked the issue from different methodological and conceptual approaches ranging from traditional laboratory modeling and experimentation to realistic simulations from involved field exercises to personal experiences of actual combat conditions The insights generated have been distilled and presented as a benchmark of current understanding and provide future directions for research in this arena Although this work focuses on soldier stress and soldier performance the principles that are derived extend well beyond this single application Their findings can be applied to people facing the demands of the business world or research as much as to those who meet life or death situations such as homeland security first responders and law enforcement personnel

The History of Human Factors and Ergonomics David Meister, 2018-12-14 Human factors ergonomics HFE as a discipline has grown by accretions rather than having been developed systematically and deliberately Therefore this book's goal creates a formal conceptual structure for HFE It is intended as a contribution to cultural history because a ours is a technological civilization and b one cannot understand technology outside of the various disciplines that make up that technology A disciplinary history is highly specialized but the author maintains that HFE is distinctive in being the only discipline that relates humans to technology Other behavioral disciplines like anthropology have little connection with technology and this is what makes HFE important in the present historical era
