Patrick Fazioli, 2017-05-01 Since its invention by Renaissance humanists the myth of the Middle Ages has held a uniquely important place in the Western historical imagination Whether envisioned as an era of lost simplicity or a barbaric nightmare the medieval past has always served as a mirror for modernity This book gives an eye opening account of the ways various political and intellectual projects from nationalism to the discipline of anthropology have appropriated the Middle Ages for their own ends Deploying an interdisciplinary toolkit author K Patrick Fazioli grounds his analysis in contemporary struggles over power and identity in the Eastern Alps while also considering the broader implications for scholarly research and public memory

Reader's Guide to the History of Science Arne Hessenbruch, 2013-12-16 The Reader's Guide to the History of Science looks at the literature of science in some 550 entries on individuals Einstein institutions and disciplines Mathematics general themes Romantic Science and central concepts Paradigm and Fact The history of science is construed widely to include the history of medicine and technology as is reflected in the range of disciplines from which the international team of 200 contributors are drawn

Anthropology, Classic Anthropology John William Bennett, Classic Anthropology is Bennett's label for the work produced by anthropologists during the period 1915-1955 which many believe represents the most productive era in the discipline's history It is also one that can never be repeated given the fact that most of anthropology's basic data the ideas and customs of tribal peoples have been extinguished or greatly transformed by modernization and nationalization The book is composed of some fifteen essays Among the issues examined are the emergence of a functionalist viewpoint in ethnology the difficulties of developing a theory of human behavior because of the focus on culture the search for concepts of culture to serve specialized needs the neglect of social psychology by the culture and personality field how value judgments emerged willy nilly or conversely were neglected in ethnological research how applied anthropology was challenged by Action Anthropology and how the interdisciplinary anthropology of the late 1940s was submerged in the postwar effort to return the discipline to traditional roots Individual anthropologists whose work is examined include among others Bronislaw Malinowski Leslie Spier Alfred Kroeber Ralph Linton Margaret Mead Ruth Benedict Clyde Kluckhohn Gregory Bateson and Walter Taylor

Human Organizations and Social Theory Murray J. Leaf, 2010-10-01 In the 1930s George Herbert Mead and other leading social scientists established the modern empirical analysis of social interaction and communication enabling theories of cognitive development language acquisition interaction government law and legal processes and the social construction of the self However they could not provide a comparably empirical analysis of human organization The theory in this book fills in the missing analysis of organizations and specifies more precisely the pragmatic analysis of communication with an adaptation of information theory to ordinary unmediated communications The study also provides the theoretical basis for understanding the success of pragmatically grounded public policies from the New Deal through the postwar reconstruction of Europe and Japan to the ongoing development of the European Union in contrast to the persistent failure of positivistic and Marxist policies and programs

Introduction to the Science of Kinship Murray J. Leaf, Dwight Read, 2020-12-30 In Introduction to the Science of Kinship Murray J Leaf and Dwight Read show how humans use specific systems of social ideas to organize their kinship relations and illustrate what this implies for the science of human social organization Leaf and Read explain that every human society has multiple social organizations each of which is associated with a distinct vocabulary This vocabulary is associated with interrelated definitions of social roles and relations These roles and relations have four specific logical properties reciprocity transitivity boundedness and imaginary spatial dimensionality These properties allow individuals to use them in communication to create ongoing agreed upon organizations This book is recommended for scholars of anthropology sociology linguistics and mathematics

Making History Robert Borofsky, 1987 Making History begins with a puzzle In 1976 the inhabitants of Pukapuka a Polynesian island in the South Pacific revived a traditional form of social organization that several authoritative Pukapukan informants claimed to have experienced previously in their youth Yet five professional anthropologists who conducted research on the island prior to 1976 do not mention it in any of their writings Had the Pukapukans invented a new tradition Or had the anthropologists collectively erred in not recording an old one In unraveling this puzzle Robert Borofsky compares two different ways of making history two different ways of constructing knowledge about the past He examines the dynamic nature of Pukapukan knowledge focusing on how Pukapukans in the process of learning and validating their traditions continually change them He also shows how anthropologists in the process of writing about such traditions for Western audiences often overstructure them emphasizing uniformity at the expense of diversity stasis at the expense of change As well as being of interest for what it reveals about Pukapukan and more generally Polynesian culture Making History helps clarify important strengths and limitations of the anthropological approach It provides valuable insights into both the anthropological construction of knowledge and the nature of anthropological understanding

American Folklore Studies Simon J. Bronner, 1986-10-08 Folklore Washington Irving and Mark Twain used it in their fiction Sigmund Freud and William James incorporated it into their work Henry Ford and Franklin Roosevelt promoted it Their efforts were set against the background of folklorists who brought collections of traditional tales songs and crafts to the attention of a modernizing society The ideas of these folklorists influenced how Americans thought about the character of their society and the directions it was taking Here for the first time is a history of American folkloristic ideas and the figures who shaped them Simon Bronner puts these ideas in cultural context showing the interconnection of folklore studies with historical events social changes and intellectual movements He follows the beginnings of American folklore studies in the antiquarian literature of the 1830s through the rise of folklore societies in the 1880s to the emergence of an independent discipline in the 1950s In this progression Bronner identifies several major themes tying folklore studies to intellectual history first the unearthing of a hidden usable past second the charting of time and space and third the structuring of communication More than a chronological or biographical history this book is an interpretation of folkloristic ideas and their relationship to American society

The History of Anthropology Regna Darnell, 2021 This volume on the history of anthropology emphasizes schools of theory institutional connections social networks and collaborative research with North American Indigenous communities Regna Darnell a fifty year veteran of the field brings unsurpassed historicist and presentist interpretations of the discipline's legacy      The 20th Century A-GI Frank N. Magill, 2013-05-13 Each volume of the Dictionary of World Biography contains 250 entries on the lives of the individuals who shaped their times and left their mark on world history This is not a who's who Instead each entry provides an in depth essay on the life and career of the individual concerned Essays commence with a quick reference section that provides basic facts on the individual's life and achievements The extended biography places the life and works of the individual within an historical context and the summary at the end of each essay provides a synopsis of the individual's place in history All entries conclude with a fully annotated bibliography      Anthropological Archaeology Guy E.
