Man Who Found Nineveh:

Nineveh and Its Remains Austen Henry Layard, 2013-02-01 In the middle of the nineteenth century British archeologist Austen Henry Layard uncovered parts of several ancient Assyrian cities buried beneath the earth including the capital of the Neo Assyrian Empire Nineveh. Nineveh was one of the greatest cities of its time and was an important religious center around 3000 BC. Commerce and religion thrived in the city which was decorated with ornate stone carvings and reliefs and boasted well defended walls and an aqueduct. However the city was sacked in 612 BC and its citizens were either deported or murdered. From that time forward the city remained unoccupied until Layard's excavation in the mid 1800s brought its treasures back into the world. Layard in this stunningly honest account describes his journeys around Asia Minor traveling by caravans to remote places with unfamiliar cultures, religious practices and customs. He recounts discovering the vast city in the land of Nimrod and excavating Bas reliefs, winged lions, tombs and large stone wall carvings, all of which were a part of the British Museum's excavation and subsequent transfer to London. Inserted throughout descriptions of Layard's encounters with tribes and fascinating historical discoveries is a look at the introduction of Christianity to the region and the culture of the people who once roamed the brick laid streets of one of the most famous cities in religious and secular history. This new edition of Layard's classic narrative is sure to make a stunning gift for any history or archeology buff. The Man who

Found Nineveh Robert Silverberg, 1968 The Man who Found Nineveh; the Story of Aust Robert Silverberg, 1964 Life of the world famous 19th century archaeologist Austen Henry Layard who discovered and uncovered the lost cities of the ancient Assyrian Empire Isaac of Nineveh's Ascetical Eschatology Jason Scully, 2017-10-27 Isaac of Nineveh's Ascetical Eschatology demonstrates that Isaac's eschatology is an original synthesis based on ideas garnered from a distinctively Syriac cultural milieu. Jason Scully investigates six sources relevant to the study of Isaac's Syriac source material and cultural heritage. These include ideas adapted from Syriac authors like Ephrem, John the Solitary and Narsai but also adapted from the Syriac versions of texts originally written in Greek like Evagrius's Gnostic Chapters, Pseudo Dionysius's Mystical Theology and the Pseudo Macarian homilies. Isaac's eschatological synthesis of this material is a sophisticated discourse on the psychological transformation that occurs when the mind has an experience of God. It begins with the premise that asceticism was part of God's original plan for creation. Isaac says that God created human beings with infantile knowledge and that God intended from the beginning for Adam and Eve to leave the Garden of Eden. Once outside the garden, human beings would have to pursue mature knowledge through bodily asceticism. Although perfect knowledge is promised in the future world, Isaac also believes that human beings can experience a proleptic taste of this future perfection. Isaac employs the concepts of wonder and astonishment in order to explain how an ecstatic experience of the future world is possible within the material structures of this world. According to Isaac, astonishment describes the moment when a person arrives at the threshold of eschatological perfection but is still unable to comprehend the heavenly mysteries while wonder describes spiritual
