Manipulations Regina Karl, 2025-03-31 To what extent does the production of art require the work of hands And reciprocally to what extent does an artwork enable a tactile understanding of the world At the beginning of the twentieth century the meaning of hands goes beyond the simple gestures they perform they become an agent holding at bay technological progress and its implications for artistic creation On the one side the hand can itself be conceived of as a machine often times it figures as a blueprint for technological tools and instruments On the other side hands appear to be outdone by the continuous rise of mechanization challenging the need for the bodily skills and abilities The ambiguity of the hand as simultaneously a primitive and proto technological instrument frames the theoretical intervention of this book which investigates the hand in European modernism not as a motif but as medium It looks at German and French case studies that address literature sculpture photography film and industrial design As it turns out the medium hand allows to retrace the cultural history of the early twentieth century as an expression of the intricacies and ambiguities that the age of mechanization exhibited in the work of art

On Writing with Photography Karen Beckman, Liliane Weissberg, 2013-02-01 From James Agee to W G Sebald there has been an explosion of modern documentary narratives and fiction combining text and photography in complex and fascinating ways However these contemporary experiments are part of a tradition that stretches back to the early years of photography Writers have been integrating photographs into their work for as long as photographs have existed producing rich multilayered creations and photographers have always made images that incorporate respond to or function as writing On Writing with Photography explores what happens to texts and images when they are brought together From the mid nineteenth century to the present this collection addresses a wide range of genres and media including graphic novels children s books photo essays films diaries newspapers and art installations Examining the works of Herman Melville Don DeLillo Claude McKay Man Ray Dare Wright Guy Debord Zhang Ailing and Roland Barthes among others the essays trace the relationship between photographs and reality and describe the imaginary worlds constructed by both discussing how this production can turn into testimony of personal and collective history memory and trauma gender and sexuality and ethnicity Together these essays help explain how writers and photographers past and present have served as powerful creative resources for each other Contributors Stuart Burrows Brown U Roderick Coover Temple U Adrian Daub Stanford U Marcy J Dinius DePaul U Marianne Hirsch Columbia U Daniel H Magilow U of Tennessee Knoxville Janine Mileaf Tyrus Miller U of California Santa Cruz Leah Rosenberg U of Florida Xiaojue Wang U of Pennsylvania

Negative/Positive Geoffrey Batchen, 2020-12-21 As its title suggests Negative Positive begins with the negative a foundational element of analog photography that is nonetheless usually ignored and uses this to tell a representative rather than comprehensive history of the medium The fact that a photograph is split between negative and positive manifestations means that its identity is always simultaneously divided and multiplied The interaction of these two components was often spread out over time and space and could involve more than one person giving photography the capacity to produce multiple copies of a given image and for that image to have many different looks sizes and makers This book traces these complications for canonical images by such figures as William Henry Fox Talbot Kusakabe Kimbei Dorothea Lange Man Ray Seydou Ke ta Richard Avedon and Andreas Gursky But it also considers a number of related issues crucial to any understanding of photography from the business practices of professional photographers to the repetition of pose and setting that is so central to certain familiar photographic genres Ranging from the daguerreotype to the digital image the end result is a kind of little history of photography partial and episodic but no less significant a rendition of the photographic experience for being so This book represents a summation of Batchen s work to date making it be essential reading for students and scholars of photography and for all those interested in the history of the medium

Man Ray Man Ray, Guido Comis, Marco Francioli, Janus, 2011 An exciting monograph dedicated to an extraordinary figure and one of last century s most famous and influential artists Man Ray 1890 1976 was a photographer painter and creator of objects experimental films and images which were at times enigmatic This catalogue which presents more than 200 works and compares and contrasts images with biographical details enables the reader to grasp the creative process involved in each work and reveals the mechanisms and motivating sources of the artist s inexhaustible imagination
