Jennings, Jay A. Smith, Earle C. Traynham, 1978 Monograph on labour relations and collective bargaining in the urban transport public service industry in the USA covers trade union involvement in institutional framework administrative aspects grievances and wage determination for transport workers and comments on labour legislation provisions for employment security employment of minority groups etc Bibliography pp 281 to 323 questionnaire references and statistical tables Contradictions of Employee Involvement in Organizational Change George M. Kandathil, 2015-07-22 This monograph narrates the decade long struggle of workers unions and management in transforming one of the largest ailing family owned jute businesses in India into a sustainable worker owned and governed cooperative It focuses on the variation in the three groups involvement in the transformation It begins with the employees struggles in taking over the business deserted by its owners to save their jobs The study analyzes the tensions between the three groups in creating and maintaining democratic governance that would sustain the initial leap in employee participation in the transformation The analysis reveals contradictions at multiple levels starting with the unexpected outcome of information sharing with workers increased information sharing by management resulting in decreased employee involvement The study explains this paradox by showing that for workers information has a symbolic nature and information sharing is a signal of their trustworthiness in the assessment of those who are privy to the information This means involvement is contingent upon the feeling that the information that workers consider crucial is being shared with them However what workers consider crucial and thus a symbol of trust changes over time as the nature and breadth of their involvement evolves Thus worker expectation as well as management and union expectation of information sharing evolves However the evolution has the potential to create a mismatch between the two expectations that might lead to contradictions in employee involvement While for management information sharing is an instrument in eliciting involvement and thus management's expectation of information sharing goes through an instrumental loop for employees information sharing is a matter of trust and thus their expectation of information sharing goes through an institutional trust based loop To sustain high employee involvement the organization should ideally institutionalize the trust based loop and avoid engaging with the instrumental loop The author proposes a collaborative approach to organizational transformation that will help deal with the contradictions more effectively sustaining employee involvement in the transformation The author also discusses the implications of these propositions for academic scholarship and organizational practices and situates them in the ongoing attempts to reform Industrial Disputes Act in India Mapping the Management Journey Sue Dopson, Michael Earl, Peter Snow, 2008-01-10 The last five decades have seen a sea change in business and in management studies The world of business has been transformed by powerful forces globalization IT outsourcing and all manner of organizational reshaping and flattening At the same time Management Studies has seen a massive expansion in courses students and teachers driven in part by a quest for new and broader models The ground covered by Management Studies and the way Management Studies maps this have changed This book written by specialist experts analyses these developments in Management Studies giving a concise guide to specific areas Working from the broader global and technological context it explores a range of sectors private public and professional and conclude by examining specific functions involved in management such as Corporate Strategy Information Technology Operations Management and Marketing The authors are all associated with Templeton College at the University of Oxford a school known for its close work with managers companies and other types of organizations through its executive education programmes and high impact business research This experience and its specialist knowledge leaves it uniquely positioned to chronicle and comment on the development of the discipline of management studies and point the way ahead
