Leigh, 2012-12-06 The essential role of the psychiatrist as consultant and educator of primary care physicians is increasing in importance as the American health care system faces fundamental restructuring In a recent workshop during the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association a number of prominent consultation liaison psychiatrists reviewed major developments in consultation liaison psychiatry during the past decade and looked toward the future This book is based on these presentations but it is not simply a proceedings book A number of additional experts have contributed important chapters and all the chapters based on the presentations are expanded and updated Thus this book reviews the current state of consultation liaison psychiatry and anticipates future challenges It also informs the reader about the state of the art knowledge and skills in consultation liaison psychiatry as of 1994 This book should be a valuable up to date overview refresher for both consultation liaison psychiatrists and general psychiatrists who wish to update and formulate his her consultant role It should be especially valuable for psychiatric residents for whom the role as consultant to primary physicians assumes increasing importance and for primary physicians and medical students who are interested in learning about commonly encountered complex biopsychosocial problems of their patients and integrating these dimensions in patient care I am grateful to Mary Safford and Eileen Bermingham of Plenum for their help with the preparation and production of this book I am also thankful to Anita Shaw for her secretarial help Hoyle Leigh M D Textbook of Pediatric

Evidence-Based Behavioral Health Practices in Pediatric Specialty Settings Alexandros Maragakis, Mari Janikian, 2024-10-28 As the field of behavioral health continues to evolve beyond the confines of traditional outpatient office settings there is a growing need for providers who are adept at delivering evidence based services across various specialty environments This need is particularly pronounced when it comes to pediatric populations where the consequences of unidentified or untreated behavioral health issues can be severe and long lasting Recognizing these challenges this book edition aims to facilitate workforce and skills development for professionals working in multiple specialty settings where pediatric behavioral health concerns frequently arise The text will serve as a comprehensive resource for supervisors and trainees emphasizing a discrete skill and competency based approach tailored to the unique demands of each setting By focusing on the development of specific competencies the text will ensure that providers are equipped to address the diverse needs of pediatric patients effectively This includes settings such as schools hospitals primary care clinics and community based programs where early identification and intervention are crucial In schools for example behavioral health providers need to be proficient in collaborating with educators and understanding the educational impacts of behavioral health issues They must also be skilled in implementing school wide interventions and working directly with students who exhibit behavioral or emotional difficulties In hospital settings providers must be prepared to address the complex interplay between physical and mental health often working as part of a multidisciplinary team to provide holistic care to young patients Primary care clinics represent another critical setting where behavioral health concerns are often first identified Providers in these environments need to be skilled in integrating behavioral health services into routine medical care conducting screenings and offering brief interventions Community based programs on the other hand require providers to engage with diverse populations often in under resourced areas necessitating a high degree of cultural competence and adaptability Overall this text will highlight the importance of specialized training and continuous professional development to meet the evolving needs of pediatric populations in various specialty settings By promoting a competency based approach it will empower providers to deliver high quality evidence based care ultimately improving outcomes for children and adolescents facing behavioral health challenges

Tarnowski, 2013-06-29 In recent years considerable professional attention has centered on the behavioral aspects of various childhood illnesses and injuries Indeed child health psychology has grown exponentially over the past decade One index of this growth is found in the number of texts that have recently appeared in the area Gross Karoly 1988 Krasnegor Arasteh Levine Carey Crocker Routh 1988 Russo Tuma 1982 Varni 1983 In general these texts provide summaries of the psychological literature across a variety of established e g oncology and emerging psychoneuroimmunology areas of child health Until recently many books on the psychological aspects of pediatric health provided no or minimal information about the psychosocial plight of child burn victims In some instances pediatric burns might be mentioned parenthetically as another example of a population for which behavioral treatment procedures e g pain management may be of value In part the relative inattention devoted to this population may be related to the perception that the literature in this area is sketchy and characterized by significant methodological and substantive shortcomings In many instances this perception is largely justified However it is also the case that the pediatric burn literature has evolved considerably over the past decade and that the incidence of and morbidity associated with severe burn injuries mandates immediate and increased attention by mental health professionals

Psychosocial Scenarios for Pediatrics Paul V. Trad, 2012-12-06 My interest in writing this book was sparked several years ago when I served as a psychiatric liaison on a pediatric unit of a major urban hospital I was asked to assess a 7 year old Hispanic boy who had been admitted to the hospital several days earlier with complaints of chronic abdominal pain Comprehensive physical evaluations of the child had revealed no organic abnormality or disease process and the pediatricians assigned to the case had begun to suspect that the little boy's symptomatology stemmed from an emotional problem

After meeting with the child for several sessions I learned that his abdominal pains had persisted for approximately 3 years preventing him from attending school on a regular basis or from engaging in other activities A detailed elinical history revealed that roughly 4 years earlier the child s mother had remarried and this stepfather had moved into the home The child s comments with respect to this man were highly ambivalent Nor was the nature of these conflicting feelings apparent to me at the time Several days later however when the child had been told the date of his discharge from the hospital I was informed that his anxiety had increased dramatically
