Modeling Complexity in Economic and Social Systems Frank Schweitzer, 2002 Economics and the social sciences are in fact the hard sciences as Herbert Simon argued because the complexity of the problems dealt with cannot simply be reduced to analytically solvable models or decomposed into separate subprocesses. Nevertheless, in recent years the emerging interdisciplinary sciences of complexity have provided new methods and tools for tackling these problems ranging from complex data analysis to sophisticated computer simulations. In particular, advanced methods developed in the natural sciences have recently also been applied to social and economic problems. The twenty-one chapters of this book reflect this modern development from various modeling perspectives such as agent-based models, evolutionary game theory, reinforcement learning, and neural network techniques, time series analysis, non-equilibrium macroscopic dynamics, and for a broad range of socio-economic applications: market dynamics, technological evolution, spatial dynamics, and economic growth, decision processes, and agent societies. They jointly demonstrate a shift of perspective in economics and the social sciences that is allowing a new outlook in this field to emerge. Social Commerce Efraim Turban, Judy Strauss, Linda Lai, 2015-11-17 This is a multidisciplinary textbook on social commerce by leading authors of e-commerce and e-marketing textbooks with contributions by several industry experts.
