Modelling For Management Simulation In Support Of Systems Thinking International Library Of Management:

Modelling for Management George P. Richardson, 1996 The Dynamics of Care Eric Wolstenholme, Douglas McKelvie, 2019-10-10 This book describes numerous projects which shed light on some of the most persistent issues of the day in health and social care. The work demonstrates the importance of embedding the concept of flow into everyday health and social care thinking and creates insights into patient journeys through different conditions and treatments. It suggests that improving throughput across agencies is the key way to improving the performance of health treatment, whereas increasing capacity is the key way to improving the performance of social care by retaining independent living. The authors conclude that for state provided care, balancing health and social care provision can eliminate the many stressful fire-fighting strategies hospitals have to undertake when faced with high demands, and this is a win-win scenario in terms of patients, staff, and costs. Further, that there is a need for better understanding of the dynamics of population ageing, the dynamics of health conditions, and the provision of better integrated information systems. The book will be a valuable resource for practitioners, clinicians, managers, and academics in health, social work, public health, and public policy in many countries. In this important book, Eric Wolstenholme and Douglas McKelvie bring two lifetimes of award-winning experience in applying system dynamics to improving our very clinically advanced but often dysfunctional care systems. David F. Andersen, O'Leary Distinguished Service Professor Emeritus, State University of New York Albany, USA. Health and social care suffer from some persistent and serious problems which not only undermine well-intended care but also impose considerable costs in many societies. This very welcome and exceptional book offers the hope of sound and sustainable solutions to many of these issues. Kim Warren, Strategy Dynamics, London, UK.
