Modelling Global Change The Art Of Integrated Abatement Modelling Advances In Ecological Economics Series:

Modelling Global Change Marco Janssen, 1998 Integrated assessment modelling is an active and rapidly developing field triggered by the debate on climate change and the move towards the goal of sustainable development This book provides an integrated approach to modelling using a transdisciplinary approach The author summarizes the main issues involved in the changing global system and gives an overview of the emerging field of integrated assessment He then presents a general discussion of the methodological principles of a multidisciplinary integrated modelling approach Existing tools are examined and new methodological approaches are applied to various aspects of the problem of global change The case studies focus on optimizing climate change mitigating policies the allocation of emission rights and the adaptive behaviour of social and biological agents Special attention is given to the role of uncertainty especially the subjective interpretation of uncertainties world views and the role of adaptive multi agent modelling The book concludes with a discussion on future uses of integrated assessment modelling in the global environment Modelling Global Change will be vital to economists and scientists who have an interest in integrated assessment modelling global modelling and decision support environmental and ecological economists and those interested in sustainable development Transition to a Sustainable Society Henk A. J.

Mulder, Wouter Biesiot, 1998-01-21 Amounts of fossil fuels left on the planet are limited and their use is further restricted due to constraints on CO2 emissions there is a need to convert to a sustainable system This book offers a backcasting approach to evaluate the physical constraints on sustainable development Journal of Economic Literature, 1998 Sustainability in Question Jörg Köhn, John M. Gowdy, Friedrich Hinterberger, Jan van der Straaten, 1999-01-01 This book explores approaches to sustainability by linking the economy society and the environment The international group of experts uses concepts of sustainability from the physical and social sciences to develop a framework for creating policies for sustainability This book will be welcomed by those interested in environmental economics science management and environmental studies as well as by those working in the fields of ecological economics natural resource economics and environmental sociology

Modelling in Ecological Economics John L. R. Proops, Paul Safonov, 2004-01-01 This book focuses on modelling in ecological economics and offers a comprehensive overview of current and emerging methods of applying mathematical computational and conceptual methods to environmental issues Following a detailed introduction the authors investigate various modelling techniques including evolutionary modelling input output modelling neo Austrian modelling entropy in ecological economics thermodynamic models multi criteria evaluation agent based modelling the environmental Kuznets curve American Book Publishing Record Cumulative 1998 R R Bowker Publishing, 1999-03 Regional Research

Frontiers - Vol. 1 Randall Jackson, Peter Schaeffer, 2017-04-17 This volume focuses on frontiers in regional research and identifies trends and future developments in the areas of innovation regional growth and migration It also addresses topics such as mobility regional forecasting and regional policy and includes expert contributions on disasters resilience and sustainability Building on recent methodological and modelling advances as well as on extensive policy analysis experience top international regional scientists identify and evaluate emerging new conceptual and methodological trends and directions in regional research This book will appeal to a wide readership from regional scientists and economists to geographers quantitatively oriented regional planners and other related disciplines It offers a source of relevant information for academic researchers and policy analysts in government and is also suitable for advanced teaching courses on regional and spatial science economics and political science

Capital and Time in Ecological Economics Malte Michael Faber, 1999 A focus on neo Austrian capital theory and its application to the modelling of long run economy environment interactions It overviews the modelling approach and gives an historical survey of capital theory and its development Issues include green national accounts and resource rents

Principles of Environmental Sciences Jan J. Boersema, Lucas Reijnders, 2008-12-12 International experts provide a comprehensive picture of the principles concepts and methods that are applicable to problems originating from the interaction between the living non living environment and mankind Both the analysis of such problems and the way solutions to environmental problems may work in specific societal contexts are addressed Disciplinary approaches are discussed but there is a focus on multi and interdisciplinary methods A large number of practical examples and case studies are presented There is special emphasis on modelling and integrated assessment This book is different because it stresses the societal cultural and historical dimensions of environmental problems The main objective is to improve the ability to analyse and conceptualise environmental problems in context and to make readers aware of the value and scope of different methods Ideal as a course text for students this book will also be of interest to researchers and consultants in the environmental sciences

Environmental Challenges in the Mediterranean 2000-2050 Antonio Marquina, 2012-12-06 This book collects most of the contributions prepared for the NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW on Environmental Challenges in the Mediterranean 2000 2050 The ARW took place in Madrid from 2 to 5 of October 2002 Scholars and researchers from North and South of the Mediterranean and other countries from NATO gathered in Madrid for discussing several important factors that could affect Mediterranean security in the next 50 years In this regard the first chapter presents the different debates regarding environmental security that took place in the last decade This chapter is an introductory chapter and takes into account the possible audience in the Southern Mediterranean and the wishes of some contributors For this reason the chapter deals in extenso with the question of human security and the different approaches The ARW dealt with issues that may affect the supply of fundamental goods for human living To this end the complex question of climate change its impact in the Mediterranean the predicted increase in temperatures and predictions about rainfall are analysed As part of this approach a chapter about solar variability and climate change is also added
