Modern Chinese Painting Vol I:

Transforming Traditions in Modern Chinese Painting Jason C. Kuo, 2004 Modern Chinese painting embodies the constant renewal and reinvigorations of Chinese civilization amidst rebellions reforms and revolutions even if the process may appear confusing and bewildering It also demonstrates the persistence of tradition and limits of continuities and changes in modern Chinese culture Most significantly it compels us to ask several important questions in the study of modern Chinese culture How extensively can cultural tradition be re interpreted before it is subverted At what point is creative reinvention an act of betrayal of tradition How has selective borrowing from Chinese tradition and foreign culture enabled modern Chinese artists to sustain themselves in the modern world By focusing on the art of Huang Binhong 1865 1955 particularly his late work this book attempts to provide some answers to these questions

Fogel, 2013 The modern histories of China and Japan are inexorably intertwined Their relationship is perhaps most obvious in the fields of political economic and military history but it is no less true in cultural and art history Yet the traffic in artistic practices and practitioners between China and Japan remains an understudied field In this volume an international group of scholars investigates Japan s impact on Chinese art from the mid nineteenth century through the 1930s Individual essays address a range of perspectives including the work of individual Chinese and Japanese painters calligraphers and sculptors as well as artistic associations international exhibitions the collotype production of artwork and the emergence of a modern canon
