Expressionism and Poster

Design in Germany 1905-1922 Kathleen G. Chapman, 2019-01-21 In Expressionism and Poster Design in Germany 1905

1925 Kathleen Chapman re defines Expressionism by situating it in relation to the most common type of picture in public space during the Wilhelmine twentieth century the commercial poster Focusing equally on visual material and contemporaneous debates surrounding art posters and the image in general this study reveals that conceptions of a modern image were characterized not so much by style or mode of production and distribution but by a visual rhetoric designed to communicate more directly than words As instances of such rhetoric Expressionist art and posters emerge as equally significant examples of this modern image demonstrating the interconnectedness of the aesthetic the utilitarian and the commercial in European modernism

Archaeologies of Modernity

Women Artists in Expressionism

Shulamith Behr, 2022-11-15 A beautifully illustrated examination of the women artists whose inspired search for artistic integrity and equality influenced Expressionist avant garde culture Women Artists in Expressionism explores how women negotiated the competitive world of modern art during the late Wilhelmine and early Weimar periods in Germany Their stories challenge predominantly male oriented narratives of Expressionism and shed light on the divergent artistic responses of women to the dramatic events of the early twentieth century Shulamith Behr shows how the posthumous critical reception of Paula Modersohn Becker cast her as a prime agent of the feminization of the movement and how K the Kollwitz used printmaking as a vehicle for technical innovation and sociopolitical commentary She looks at the dynamic relationship between Marianne Werefkin and Gabriele M nter whose different paths in life led them to the Blaue Reiter a group of Expressionist artists that included Wassily Kandinsky and Paul Klee Behr examines Nell Walden s role as an influential art dealer collector and artist who promoted women Expressionists during the First World War and discusses how Dutch artist

Jacoba van Heemskerck's spiritual abstraction earned her the status of an honorary German Expressionist. She demonstrates how figures such as Rosa Schapire and Johanna Ey contributed to the development of the movement as spectators, critics, and collectors of male avant-gardism. Richly illustrated Women Artists in Expressionism is a women-centered history that reveals the importance of emancipative ideals to the shaping of modernity and the avant-garde.

Drawing from the Modern: 1880-1945 Jodi Hauptman, Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 2004. While art history has made room for the flurry of movements that emerged in the period following World War II, the myriad artistic developments of the last thirty years have yet to be assigned firm historical categories. Drawing from the Modern 1975-2005, the final installment in a series of inaugural year exhibitions produced by the Department of Drawings, attempts to tell a provisional story of the years from 1975 to the present as reflected through MoMA's singular drawings collection. While making no claims to comprehensiveness, the installation details both the blossoming of different art positions on a broad international scale in this era and the coming of age of drawing as an independent and for many artists, primary mode of expression. Organized chronologically and in loose clusters of artists working in the same milieu or vein of interest, the exhibition features works by more than fifty artists, including Bruce Nauman, Gerhard Richter, Martin Kippenberger, Marlene Dumas, Gabriel Orozco, Kara Walker, and Luc Tuymans.

Henri Michaux Nina Parish, 2007-01-01. Henri Michaux is both a recognised poet and visual artist, arguably one of the greatest double artists of the twentieth century. This book presents the first detailed examination of a particular interdisciplinary aspect of his production, namely the innovative experimentation with signs contained in four works: Mouvements, Par la voie des rythmes, Saisir, and Par des traits. Questions arise concerning their literary and visual status as in their attempt to render interior rhythm and dynamism they occupy an interstitial space between writing and drawing, between the book and the canvas, between the Western alphabet and Chinese characters. This study addresses these questions by analysing the conception, production, and reception of Michaux's signs and the literary and artistic contexts in which they were produced.

Kirchner and the Berlin Street Deborah Wye, Ernst Ludwig Kirchner, Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 2008. Ernst Ludwig Kirchner's remarkable series of paintings known as the Berlin Street Scenes is a highpoint of the artist's work and a milestone of German Expressionism, widely seen as a metaphor for modernity itself through their depiction of life in a major metropolis. Kirchner moved from Dresden to Berlin in 1911, and it was in this teeming city, immersed in its vitality, decadence, and underlying sense of danger posed by the imminent World War I, that he created the Street Scenes in a sustained burst of creative energy and ambition between 1913 and 1915. As the most extensive consideration of these paintings in English, this richly illustrated volume examines the creative process undertaken by the artist as he explores his theme through various mediums and presents the major body of related charcoal drawings, pen and ink studies, pastels, etchings, woodcuts, and lithographs he created in addition to the paintings. The volume also investigates the significance of the streetwalker as a primary motif and provides insight on the series in the context of Kirchner's wider
